VIOLATION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

DETAILS OF THE FRENCH VICTORY.

A special dispatch to the World, from Tours, has the following: The full details of the victory of Gen. d'Aurilles over Van Der Tann has not yet been received. The engagement commenced both at the east and west of Orleans on the 9th inst., and was continued until the evening of Thursday. During Thursday the French drove the Prussians from Orleans, inflicting a severe loss upon them, and are now in occupation of the city. Gen. Van der Tann, with the remnant of his army, is now retreating on the road leading from Orleans to Pithiviers, after vainly attempting to force his way through Chateau Neuf and Montargis, where he hoped to join the army of Prince Frederick Charles. Gen. d'Aurilles has a force of 60,000 men on the north bank of the Loire and 70,000 on the south bank. The destruction of the roads and bridges between Commercy and Orleans prevented the advance of the army under Frederick Charles. He has about 75,000 men, a great part of whom are probably north of the Marne. After having disposed of the remnant of Van der Tann's army, D'Aurilles will march directly on Paris and attack the German lines between Versailles and St. Germain, while Trochu makes a sortie with 150,000 men to cut his way out and raise the siege. Communication between D'Aurilles and Trochu and the government at Tours is constantly maintained by carrier pigeons.

The following dispatch of the World's correspondent at Tours, 9th, which was delayed in transmission, gives the particulars of the beginning of the engagement which resulted in victory for the Army of the Loire:

A great battle is being fought between Mer and Beaugency. The affair began yesterday with an engagement between the advance guard on the border of the Forest of Marchenoir. The French were attacked at 11 o'clock in the morning by a Prussian column, consisting of two battalions of infantry five hundred strong, cavalry and ten guns. The French occupied the line from Poisly to St. Laurent des Bois. At noon a battalion of Chasseurs [illegible] detached from St. Laurent and drove back the Prussians between [illegible]. The French cavalry then vigorously attempted to turn the flank of the Prussians, who, however, managed to effect their retreat at half past three in the direction of Chateau Neuf, leaving their dead and wounded on the field, among whom were twenty officers, and many prisoners were also made. All this happened prior to the more decisive engagement which took place the following day.

The Government at Tours believes Prince Frederick Charles is advancing from Commercy and will not be able to effect his junction with Vander Tann before the 15th. It has also received important information from Rouen and Amiens about Bourbaki's army. The French have concentrated a large force at Beauvais and Gisors, their line extending to Les Andelys, Lyons and Le Forêt. They are well provided with artillery. A battle will probably be fought on the banks of the river Epte, near Gournay En Bray or Gisors.

A special dispatch to the World from Tours to-day, 12th, says:

The whole loss of Bavarians in the battles of the 9th and 10th is 3,100 men, killed, wounded and prisoners. Von der Tann's effective force on the evening of the 10th is estimated at 25,000. He was then at Toury, twenty-five miles north of Orleans, where he was joined by General Wittich and Prince Albert, who, with one division of infantry and one of cavalry, 12,000 men strong, marched from Chartres to his aid. On the evening of the 11th he was further reinforced by the Duke of Mecklenburg with a corps composed of 25,000 men of all arms. [illegible] ty, and Embassy personnel accompanying them. They were three days en route, under wretched weather. They report that order prevails in Paris, but that food is steadily rising in price.

A special correspondent of the Tribune at Versailles, 12th, telegraphs: Trustworthy information represents that the Paris supplies will not last exceeding three weeks, and the Prussians are not likely to bombard the city.

GARIBALDI'S MOVEMENTS.

A special correspondent of the Tribune with Garibaldi, 9th inst., writes from Aulon: Michel, with 5,000 men, is on the road. As we started I asked Garibaldi if the movement to Aulon was a retreat. He replied, "Certainly not; the Prussians being at Dijon." It remains to be seen whether they mean to go from thence to Lyons or the centre of France. Gambetta wishes to have us near him. We are nearly as far north as Dole. He said further he thought the Prussians would probably occupy the department of Aurora.

[Special Cable to N. Y. World.]

ALLEGED INTRIGUE BY GAMBETTA IN THE INTEREST OF THE ORLEANS PRINCES.

LONDON, November 12.—The La Situation has a leader to-day in which it says the arrival of Schneider at London compels it to make public the fact that Gambetta is engaged in an intrigue for the restoration of the Orleans dynasty. The scheme is for the late Corps Legislatif to assemble at Tours and compel, by intimidation and pressure of circumstances, the ratification of all done since the 4th of September, and then induce it to do away with the Republic and accept the services of the Orleans Princes. A German Princess is interested in the intrigue, although Bismarck remains faithful to the restoration of the Empire. The presence of Thiers at Tours and continued conferences between him and Gambetta give additional color to this report.

Countess De Montijo, mother of the Empress, arrived at Rouen from England, traveling incognito, and immediately left Rouen for the South.

BUSHWHACKERS AT WORK.

Bushwhacking of Prussians is carried on daily in Alsace and Lorraine. Prussians are killed every night in Strasburg.

RUSSIA DEMANDS THE ABROGATION OF THE TREATY OF PEACE.

The Russian Minister here has read to Lord Granville a letter from Prince Gortschakoff, stating that Russia demands the modification or abolition of provisions signed at the Convention in Paris on the 30th of March, 1856, and article Eleventh and Thirteenth in the treaty of Paris 27th of April 1856. These provisions forbid the Russian fleet entering the Dardanelles and Bosphorus from the Black Sea, and limits the Russian fleet on the Black Sea to ten small steamers. They also prohibit Russia and Turkey maintaining on the Black Sea coast any military or marine arsenal and generally neutralize the Black Sea by the interdiction from its waters of any vessels of war belonging to the powers possessing its coast, or any other power. This declaration on the part of Russia being simultaneously in London and before the Cabinets at Constantinople, Berlin and Vienna, is believed here to indicate Russia's readiness to insist on her claims by force.

The official journal at Constantinople says the Porte is now able to resist any attack; that it has six hundred thousand men and twelve armored frigates.

Count Beust, Austrian Prime Minister, arrived at Munich on the 8th and remained there in conference with the Bavarian cabinet two days.

DEATH-RATE IN THE GERMAN ARMIES.

A careful condensation of reports received here by high medical authority in the British army from all the German armies now in France show that the aggregate deaths of German soldiers average 2,250 per day, which is due in a great degree to bad sanitary arrangements and neglect of sick and wounded. The opinion in military circles here is universal that unless the Germans can end the war before January their final defeat is inevitable.

AFFAIRS ON THE LOIRE.

Advices from Versailles to-day state that Gen. Moltke has ordered an additional force sent to Tours to prevent another disaster. An attack by the army of the Loire is expected.

The excitement in London to-night is high in political circles respecting the designs of Russia. It is believed she has a secret understanding with Prussia.

THE LATE FIGHTING.

LONDON, November 13.—Dispatches dated Tours, Friday evening, report the statements that they were fighting all day Thursday near Coulmeir, in which the French were successful and that General Pallieres occupied Chevilly, north of Orleans, taking six hundred prisoners and two guns.

A GERMAN LOAN PROPOSED.

LONDON, November 13.—The North German Parliament meets at Berlin on Monday week to raise means for carrying on the war. A loan is proposed, but its form is not yet settled.

THE ARMY MOVEMENTS.

A Tours dispatch to the London press, dated yesterday, says: Nothing further is made known of the movements of the French army since the recovery of Orleans and the occupation of Chevilly. The German retreat on the 9th was effected in perfect order. The loss of the Germans since the 7th amounts to ten thousand men. Gen. Werder is evidently moving to join Von der Tann. The bridges on this route are to be destroyed and roads obstructed in every possible manner.

A camp of instruction is forming at Toulouse, under General Le Mayan, as a nucleus for the army of the southwest.

[Herald Special.]

THE MOVEMENTS OF RUSSIA—COMPLICATIONS IMMINENT.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—On Saturday morning a special courier arrived from St. Petersburg with dispatches for Granville, said to be of the most pressing and serious character. Special messengers went from the Foreign Office last night by special messenger to Vienna, Florence, Copenhagen and Constantinople. The Ministers left town yesterday but will reassemble early in the week. Many believe the Russian fleet will be at the Dardanelles next week. Extraordinary activity prevails in the army and navy departments. Great European complications seem imminent.

THE FRENCH LOAN—ALLEGED DIPLOMATIC COLLUSION.

A special dispatch from Berlin, 12th, says: Semi official complaint has been made that England's late attempt at mediation were made simultaneously with the issue of the six per cent. French loan, and that false reports of the success of the armistice were designedly spread by the English Government organs, and hence the collusion between Granville and Thiers to help on the loan. A prominent banker here has been arrested for subscribing to the French loan. Though it was proved he acted on an order from an Italian banker who was to cover the transaction with a remittance direct from Italy to London, the banker was held in custody, the authorities refusing 50,000 thalers bail.

PAPAL AFFAIRS.

A circular note from the Italian Government declares the continuation of the session of the Ecumenical Council will not interfered with.

Archbishop Ledochowski, of Posen, has arrived at the German head quarters, at Versailles and requests an audience of the King.

FROM FRANCE.

NOT REGARDED AS FINAL.

TOURS, November 12.—The authorities here do not regard as final the rupture in the negotiations for an armistice.

EXCITEMENT OVER GERMAN PRISONERS.

Over 1,700 Prussian prisoners, captured at and near Orleans, passed through this city to-day on their way to the south of France. Great excitement was created among the people, and it was with much difficulty a riot was prevented. There were hundreds of people along the line of march who recognized among the prisoners those who so outraged them at Chateau Dun and other places. The prisoners were hooted at and insulted, but by the efforts of the greater part of the crowd violence was happily prevented.

FURTHER FRENCH SUCCESS.

Cheering reports are still received from the Army of the Loire. There are rumors of great advantages gained yesterday. Gen. Von der Tann's army, notwithstanding he had been reinforced by the entire army from Chartres, is in full retreat. Gambetta has gone to Orleans.

FURTHER DETAILS OF RECENT BATTLES.

Nothing official is yet received from the Army of the Loire since the report of Gen. D'Aurilles. It is asserted that Gambetta went to Orleans for the express purpose of hastening the attack along the enemy's lines.

More prisoners, captured at the battle at Orleans, arrived this afternoon. They were immediately dispatched to the south of France.

The Moniteur to-day publishes more extended details of the recent battle. On the first day the battle became general soon after the attack was made. Gen. Pallieres, who had command of one wing of the French, made success from the first. The Prussians were in a strong position. Gen. Pallieres took the veteran troops and carried a Prussian position, driving them before him and capturing many prisoners. So marked was his victory that Gen. Palladines warmly praised his conduct. The Garde Mobile from the department of the Loire, who were under the heavy artillery fire of the enemy, wavered a little, but Gen. Barretti, who was in command, placed himself at their head and broke through the enemy's line. The Mobiles from the department of Sarthe behaved admirably and charged the enemy with the bayonet. The Chasseurs of the line also distinguished themselves.

MISTAKEN BAVARIANS.

The Moniteur has an editorial regretting that Bavarians, who had nothing to gain in this war, but everything to lose from the grasping ambition of Prussia, should make so readily the sacrifices they have done and become so firm an ally of that power. They were led into the war with Prussia, thinking their country would be invaded, but they must know now the Republic has no such desire.

Late advices from Orleans dwell upon the enormous exactions of the Prussians, who obtained many supplies evidently not for troops. It is also stated that many acts of extreme cruelty were committed by the Prussians, in surrounding villages to terrify those suspected of harboring Franc Tireurs at night. A number of Prussians were killed at Chateau Dun by Franc-Tireurs.

LYONS AND MARSEILLES.

Advices from Lyons and Marseilles announce all quiet in both cities. At Marseilles the authority of the Government is generally recognized.

PRUSSIAN FORCE REPULSED.

A dispatch from Rouen yesterday says a force of fifty thousand Prussians, well supplied with cannon, entered Beaumont on that day, but were driven out with loss by the Garde Mobile and Franc-Tireurs.

PROCLAMATION TO THE FRENCH ARMY.

TOURS, Nov. 11.—Gambetta in his proclamation to the army of the Loire congratulates the soldiers on their victories of the 9th and 10th. He says: Your courageous efforts recall victory to our cause. [illegible] You are on the road to Paris, which awaits you. [illegible]

(Signed,) GAMBETTA.

The condition of the army is satisfactory.

BARBARITIES AND OUTRAGES OF THE PRUSSIANS.

The Journal Official charges that the Prussians [illegible]

stroyed. Officers quartered in private residences, robbed the people who lodged them of clothing, linen, watches, shoes and toilet articles and even of women's wearing apparel. Wherever they stopped, they destroyed or soiled everything. A German artillery caisson, captured near Orleans, was found filled with laces and silks, and another contained clocks, vases and rich parlor ornaments taken from country seats around the city.

REPUBLIC INCREASING IN FAVOR.

TOURS, November 13.—Gambetta has returned to Tours. In many parts of France the people of Communes are taking votes to endorse the vote of Paris in favor of the government of national defense, and the municipal authorities are hastening to give adhesion. The Monarchial journals have bitter comments on these evidences of the increasing popularity of the Republic.

A dispatch from Macon reports that Schneider has sold the works of Le Creuzot to an American company and the United States flag is hoisted there.

ACTIVITY OF MINISTER GAMBETTA—HOSTILE ARMIES CONFRONTING EACH OTHER.

Minister Gambetta, during his absence from the city, visited General Palladines, and at his headquarters issued a proclamation to the army and made a speech to the people of Orleans. He now returns to hasten forward reinforcements. The hostile armies are now face to face, the French resting on Chevilly, with the forests and villages at their back, the Prussians in the plains of Bearnance. General Von der Taun has been reinforced by detachments from the commands of Gen. Willich, Prince Albrecht and Duke of Mecklenburg also. 5,000 men in all.

The French charge the Prussians with throwing wounded men from windows of houses at Chateau Dun and other barbarities.

A circular has been sent to the Prefects of departments with detailed instructions in regard to the raising of batteries of artillery required by decree. Breech loading cannon of a model superior to the Prussians are recommended.

The Archbishop of Tours preached a patriotic sermon to-day urging a general rising for the national defence. His words caused a profound sensation. The Archbishop of Angers in a circular letter advises young clergymen to seek service as chaplains or nurses in the army, and all who have not taken orders to enlist.

TWENTY-FIVE HUNDRED GERMAN PRISONERS—FRENCH EXCITEMENT OVER THEIR VICTORY.

TOURS, November 12—Midnight.—Gen. Palladines reports he took 2,500 prisoners in his late engagement. The French troops now hold the entrenched camp which was occupied by the Prussians at Arthenay.

Tidings of the victory of the Army of the Loire caused the wildest excitement throughout France. Great numbers of troops are hurrying from the south to join the forces of General Palladine. The use of balloons for observing the movements of the enemy are to be introduced into the Army of the Loire. A considerable number of steel breech-loading cannon are ready for the Armies of the Loire and North.

FLORENCE, November 12.—The Independence denies the existence of any letter in which Thiers informs the Pope that steps will be taken by France in his favor.

At a patriotic banquet given at Milan on Friday evening, the Italian Minister of Foreign affairs spoke at length on the Roman question. He pledged the government to the introduction of all kinds of liberty, especially religious liberty. He affirmed that the relations of the government with the Pope were not unfriendly. Extremists objected to the moderation of the government, because it deprived them of their political cry that the independence of the Pope should be disregarded. Extremists of another class urged the necessity of conciliation and feared the Government might go too far. The task of the Government was to satisfy Europe and preserve the dignity of the Pope. This done the relations with the Holy See could not fail to continue friendly. He concluded with an appeal in favor of conciliation, administration reform and spiritual fidelity to the Pope.

A special correspondent telegraphs from Florence, 11th, that the canvass for the general election of the Italian Parliament is proceeding throughout the country with great animation. The clerical party are actively at work, especially in the southern provinces, in behalf of candidates with ultramontane principles, and where they are unable to elect candidates of their own, they are giving their support secretly to the candidates of the most violent Republicans, on the theory of alarming the Conservatives by returning the Reds.

Great and growing dissatisfaction exists in the Papal States on account of the application of the Italian system of heavy taxation. Disturbances have broken out in consequence of the enforcement of the tax on grinding corn.

A scene of indiscriminate violence followed and was only stopped by the interference of a strong body of police. Several soldiers, policemen and citizens were badly injured, but no deaths are reported. All the soldiers are under arrest.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12, 1870.

CABINET MEETING.

The Cabinet remained in session an unusually long time yesterday, and everybody concluded that the impending bureau changes and appointments were the subject of discussion. It transpired that nothing of the sort was considered. Other questions monopolized their meeting, but what this was has not become known. It is presumed, therefore, that the President was merely clearing up his official table preparatory to a brief visit to Philadelphia, where he is to be the guest of ex-Secretary Borie until Monday.

NEW FRENCH MINISTER.

Mr. Treilhard, shortly after his arrival in New York Saturday, telegraphed the fact to Washington and made an inquiry, depending on the answer to govern his future movements. It is known this gentleman was appointed by Napoleon as the successor of Minister Berthemy, but that he has never been endorsed by either the Tours or Paris Government. Under these circumstances Treilhard has been informed he will not be received in a diplomatic capacity by the Government. Berthemy will therefore continue as the representative of France until relieved by proper authority, although he has signified his desire to return to France to rejoin his family.

Senator Pomeroy and the Ledger Letter.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS, Nov. 12.—No little commotion has been created in our State by the publication of a letter from Senator Pomeroy to James Savage, in which the Senator denies having written the article on Kansas published four weeks ago in the New York Ledger. The Senator admits that the article was full of inaccuracies and misstatements, and says it was written by the Ledger reporter after spending an evening with Pomeroy at St. Nicholas Hotel. The belief here is that Mr. Bonner has been duped, or this letter to Savage is a forgery. The original article in the Ledger had every appearance in style and make as though coming directly from the pen of Senator Pomeroy.

Railroad Completion.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MONMOUTH, ILL., November 12.—The first through train from Sterling, by way of Rock Island, to St. Louis, over the Rock Island and St. Louis Railroad, with the officers of the road on board, just passed through this place. The last rail connecting the upper with the lower division was laid this morning. This road opens a direct road from St. Louis north through the western part of Illinois to the southern part of the State and by its connections to Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and passes through the most beautiful farming country in the valley of the Mississippi.

—The Universalists of Cincinnati continued their centennial services through yesterday. An able discourse was delivered by Rev. Asa Saxe, General Secretary of the General Convention of Universalists, in the morning, after which seven thousand three hundred dollars were raised for Buchtel College, to be erected under the auspices of the denomination at Akron, Ohio. The amount will be increased to about nine thousand dollars, a liberal response from the single Church of Cincinnati.

—The liabilities of David Gibson & Co., liquor dealers, of Cincinnati, whose paper went to protest a few days since, will probably reach $330,000. This includes, however their secured paper, which is large in amount and will be available in a short time, though they will not be able to make a statement for some time. They assure the public that they have ample assets and that it will amount to nothing more than a suspension.

—Lewis Travis, colored, fugitive from justice, was arrested at Nashville, on Saturday, by policeman Skelle. Travis is charged with killing Maj. Laurent, of Spalding county, Ga., Dr. Butler, wife and child, and three other persons, and a large reward was offered for him. He resisted arrest and shot several times at Skelle, inflicting a slight wound. Skelle shot him through the back of the neck. Officers from Georgia were pursuing him.

—A fire broke out at two o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Home for the Orphans, Catholic, in charge of Franciscan Brothers, at Cincinnati, which created considerable anxiety both for the safety of the inmates and of the buildings. The children, one hundred and fourteen in number, were removed without any one being hurt and the flames extinguished without serious loss, save by some water. The damage is about $4,000.

—The druggist Helmbold has brought suit against the New York Herald for one hundred thousand dollars damages for ridiculing and abusing him in its columns, because, as he alleges, he had withdrawn his advertisements from the paper. Helmbold publishes a card saying he has frequently sought to obtain satisfaction from this paper, and failing he brings the first suit in his life.

—At 12 o'clock on Friday night a fire broke out in the bobbin works of Sprague & Co., at Lawrence, Mass., which caused a loss of $125,000.

—Arbor festivals are the latest approved arrangement for raising money for religious or charitable purposes.

BY MAIL FROM ABROAD.

A GREAT pilgrimage of Catholic noblemen took place on October 12, to the grave of St. Boniface, in Fulda, Hesse, for the welfare of the Pope.

ROME, under the new regime, has already abolished passports and the searching of luggage, and strangers are rushing into the Eternal City from all parts of the world.

THE citizens of Carlsruhe have offered to lodge 10,000 citizens of Strasburg till their dwellings can be rebuilt and repaired. This generous offer has been gratefully accepted by the inhabitants of Strasburg.

A PEASANT woman in Hoszuszo, Hungary, hung herself the other day from despair at having lit a fire, by mistake, with bank notes to the value of 300 florins, which her husband had brought home from market.

NEARLY all the French women at Versailles, now in Prussians hands, wear mourning, in token of their patriotic feeling, and scarcely deign a look at a Prussian. Even the children are taught to fly from all contact with the invaders.

AN English lady lately made her appearance at the barracks in Berlin where the French prisoners are confined, for the purpose of distributing among the wounded gutta percha mattresses filled with water, which were very gratefully received. There are in Prussia 110,000 French prisoners.

THE KING OF SIAM has committed to the Maha Uparal, or second king of Chiengmai, the care of the American missionaries among the Laos people, charging him to "assist, nourish and protect them, so that they shall no more suffer trouble and hindrances from persecution like those through which they have passed."

THE London Times thinks that the English money market takes up the loan France asks for with such unexampled avidity, is surely a good omen for France. No German can complain of English partiality, for our speculators in foreign stocks are more neutral in their shrewd scrutiny of investments than the most scrupulous bearers of the Red Cross.

THE Mont Cenis tunnel, the most wonderful piece of railway enterprise ever undertaken, will be completed next year. At one part it is 5,000 feet below the surface of the earth. In making this tunnel several useful discoveries, which render man's progress through the bowels of the land much easier than it was before, have been made and successfully tested. Boring by the aid of compressed air is one of them.

LUCCA is back in Berlin with her husband, the Baron Von Rhaden. His escape from instant death is considered to be one of the most wonderful on record. A Chassepot bullet struck him under the right eye, and cleaving its way through his head, came out under the left ear. A hair's breadth of swerving upward or downward, to the right or to the left, would have done the business for him neatly and finally.

THE question of religious liberty is being stirred up in Portugal. A Jew has been elected to the Legislature by an immense majority, but can not take his seat because the Constitution requires him to take an oath that he belongs to the Catholic faith. All liberal papers of the country advocate the repeal of this clause, and the proclamation of complete religious liberty throughout the country. The world moves.

THE story is told that M. Jules Favre, wishing to set an example of frugality in famine times, gave a select dinner party, at which he set down a dish of three mutton chops before seven guests. As might be expected they were all left for manners. It is not told whether horseflesh formed part of the repast at the Minister's table, but the principal luxury was a small ham, which the company pared to the bone.

THE French prisoners in Germany are utilized extensively, being employed, at wages, and supplied with rations as soldiers, not only on public works, but in private manufactories, even in making the wooden toys which are largely imported into this country, but the production of which has been materially suspended during the war. Two thousand of the prisoners are employed in embanking the Elbe at Madgeburg, and several thousands are reclaiming waste lands in Hanover.

GREAT expectations of the development of India are aroused by the completion of the great railway connection, 1,400 miles in length, between Bombay and Calcutta, the capital. Crowds of people are going to the interior from Bombay, which it is expected, will soon become the great cotton port for the large European trade. The railroad charges from Bombay to Calcutta are $75. The through trip is made in sixty-two hours, and the journey is solaced by the presence of American palace cars.

THE Pall Mall Gazette says the bombardment of Paris, if it takes place will be nearly the most miserable event of our day. There is even a sense in which the destruction of a single street would be more deplorable than would have been the shelling of Strasburg Cathedral; for human folly reaches its highest point of practical paradox when it shatters the results of the labor, taste, thrift and skill of still living men—as a child might smear with its fingers the newly completed work of a plaisterer.

IT may be remembered by many readers, that in 1868 the Archduke Henry of Austria contracted a morganatic marriage with a Mrs. Hoffmann. In order to do this, he was obliged to take one of his inferior titles, and has ever since been known as the Count of Waldeck. On account of this mesalliance he was obliged to leave Austria, and has since resided at Luzerne in Switzerland. Recently the King of Bavaria conferred upon Mrs. Hoffmann the title and honors of Countess of Waldeck, to enable the Count to present her at Court.

AN old Hudson Bay settler having read an account of the Jersey woman who came all the way to China in quest of a husband, writes to say that the young women who marry officials of the Hudson Bay Company have to endure much more hardship in their efforts to get mated. The courtships are generally done by clergymen, who select women of good moral character from their flocks and forward them to the distant settlements, where they meet their future lords for the first time, and are "disposed of" half an hour after arrival.

THE London Daily News is sarcastic on George Francis Train, and remarks: "The most ardent Pro-Prussian will sympathize with France on learning that George Francis Train has arrived at Marseilles, and announced his intention of saving the Republic. France has sunk low indeed; but this is the cruelest blow which has yet been dealt her. We are not informed that Mr. Train intends to help the country with his own personal strength of arm; the aid he offers is rather of a strategic nature. It is advice, in short, which he places at the service of the Republic."

WHEN the works of art taken from foreign galleries by the French, during the Revolution and French Empire, were restored to their real owners in 1815, quite a number of them still remained in Paris. Spain lost the most, and after that came Hesse. The galleries of Cassel received but few of the many art treasures carried off by the legions of Napoleon back at the general distribution. The rest remained in the Louvre, at Paris. A complete list of all the losses has been made out, and the German Government will insist on having all of them restored to their real owners.

THE word "poacher" has now become almost synonymous with that of "patriot." Everywhere braconniers are reported to be the best shots and the most daring Francs-tireurs. In the forest of Orleans all the poachers for 10 leagues round united to form a special corps. They felt that they were defending their own property. One of the number taken prisoner by the Prussians was sentenced to be shot; but he escaped, crossed the Loire on foot, and now offers to wager his life with the Prussian General that his hand picked off as many as 50 Prussian officers. If the Prussians can prove the contrary, he declares he will deliver himself up.

THE English papers refer to the last addition of the noble army of bankrupts. This is the Earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham, a nobleman who does not enjoy the highest reputation of a man in his order for strong practical sense, and who has endeavored to combine the two avocations of "plunging" (i. e. reckless betting,) and poetry, having written a long dreary volume of versification appropriately entitled the "Deluge," which in another sense has not come "apres moi." His lordship, who is married to a sister of the celebrated Marchioness of Hastings, possesses the finest park in the south of England—Eastwell, now let to the Duke of Abercorn.

THE Chinese system of civil appointments has been much commended, but the following paragraph from a Shanghae paper seems to show that it is not immaculate: "A proclamation has been posted in Shanghae that the Kweichow 'subscription office' is now open and that it has commenced the sale of offices and titles. Any rank in Peking can be purchased, up to a member of one of the Six Boards (inclusive,) and in the provinces up to Taoutai (inclusive.) The Kweichow office offers special facilities, it has obtained from the Emperor to issue government certificates to purchasers on payment of the purchase money, whereas formerly such certificates could only be obtained after reference to Peking. Of course 'gentry' and 'wealthy' persons are urged to avail themselves of such an unexampled privilege."

THE OIL REGIONS.

During the past week several new strikes have been made, the most important of which is one on the Lamberton farm, opening up a large field for future operations.

Fogle well, on the Point, commenced to pump last week, and is yielding five barrels per day.

Wright well, on the Point, new strike, producing three barrels.

Gardner & Humphrey, on the Point, new strike, pumping six barrels.

George Reed, on the Point, new strike, producing 20 barrels per day. This well has a tremendous flow of gas, which is used as fuel in place of coal to run the engine.

The well of Gardner & Co., on the Lamberton farm, commenced pumping on Tuesday morning at the rate of 20 barrels per day, but had to be shut down on Tuesday evening to make repairs in machinery. The flow of gas from this well is unprecedented in this region. It comes out with terrific force, making a rumbling noise which can be heard a half mile distant. Two other wells will be tested on this same territory this week. Great excitement prevails among oil operators on account of this strike.—Venango Citizen, Nov. 10.

THE St. Cloud Journal relates that a hunter recently came across two bucks, with locked horns, engaged in a vigorous combat. He hastily fired, the ball striking one of the deer in the neck. Being very much excited, Mr. H. did not wait to reload his gun, but ran up to pull the animals apart, the wounded one having dropped upon its knees. But the infuriated buck knocked him over in a trice, and sprang on his breast with its fore feet. Catching hold of the lowered horns, he was jerked up again. This was all done in an instant, and just then the other buck rushed up to renew the contest. Instead of taking advantage of this to reload, the excited hunter struck the wounded buck with his clubbed gun, without any other effect than to break off the stock. But a well directed blow with barrel knocked the animal down, and the other ran off. Mr. H. succeeded in despatching the prostrate buck.

THE Aledo, Indiana, Record says: "Mr. J. B. Brown, residing a short distance west of Millersburg, arose on Monday morning, as usual, made a fire, seated himself in a chair near the bed, where his wife was still lying, placed the muzzle of a gun against his breast and discharged it with his foot. At the report of the gun his wife sprang out of bed, when her dying husband clasped her in his arms and almost immediately expired. Mr. B. was about 40 or 45 years of age. A short time ago Mr. B. sold his farm with the intention of removing to Kansas, and, on Saturday last, made a sale of his personal property. After the sale of the farm, we understand that Mrs. B. refused to give her consent to the removal, which seemed to render Mr. B. very much dejected.

SINCE the close of the war a remarkable increase is noticeable in the production of peanuts, and on many of the smaller plantations in the Border States they have largely superceded tobacco. Virginia will send to market this year 400,000 bushels; Tennessee, 350,000; Georgia and the Carolinas, 150,000 to 200,000 bushels.

THE Alexandria Gazette says that Mr. Hiram Booten, of Madison county, Va., while laboring under a fit of mental aberration, on Monday morning last, took his gun into a grove near his house, and removing his boots and stockings, put the muzzle of the weapon in his mouth, pulled the trigger and blew nearly the whole of his head off.

THE body of District Attorney Long, whose mysterious death at New Orleans has been recorded, was exhumed on Wednesday, when a thorough examination showed the brain to be congested and bearing a weight of four ounces of extraneous matter. A GENTLEMAN from East Tennessee, who made a hasty trip to the Atlanta fair, took but a small valise along with him. The thieves, in making their rounds, examined among others the valise of the gentleman referred to, and finding nothing but a suit of under-clothing ready for the wash, they, instead of appropriating it to their own use, placed a one hundred dollar Confederate note in the valise and departed.

THE North Carolina Robesonian gives an account of the drowning in the Cape Fear river, on Wednesday night last, of Mr. James McCorkle, a highly esteemed citizen of Robeson county. Mr. McCorkle was driving an unmanageable mule to a buggy, when the animal plunged headlong over a steep embankment into the river, dragging driver and buggy after him. Both Mr. McCorkle and the mule were entirely dead when found.

A FEW days ago a young man died at a boarding house on Common street, New Orleans. Two of his friends went to the house to attend to the body. What was their astonishment when they were confronted by the landlady, who told them that they would not be permitted to touch the body unless $100 were paid. They inquired for what service the money was demanded, and were informed that the deceased owed $18 for board, and that the balance was required for "damages done to my boarding house."

ON Saturday evening, at Selma, Alabama, a quarrel, which had been pending all day between Jack Baxter, white, and Alf Granger, negro, both brick masons, culminated in the latter being shot and killed. Baxter surrendered himself to Marshal Waide, from whom he was taken by a mob of negroes, stripped, beaten, and dragged through the streets, and left for dead. Through the influence of Gen. Pettus and others the whites gathered and armed on hearing of the affair, but were restrained from attacking the negroes. A strong posse under Gen. Pettus, was summoned by the sheriff, by whom the body of Baxter was taken from the negroes and the mob dispersed without further violence. The city was quiet that night.

THE working model of William Moses, for the manufacture of spirits of turpentine, tar, pitch, pyroligneous acids, &c., exhibited at the late fair at Atlanta, yielded, according to the statement of the committee appointed to supervise its operation, out of 600 pounds, or one-eight cord of rich pine wood, 21 pounds of spirits of turpentine or three gallons, at 40 cts per gallon, $1.20; 240 pounds of tar and pitch, or 20 gallons at 8 cts per gallon, $1.60; 20 pounds of pyroligneous acid (15 degrees) equal to 10 pounds of acetate of lime at 6 cts per pound, $1.14; 30 pounds of gas, equal to 500 cubic feet; 153 pounds charcoal, 95 pounds water, 95 pounds loss—$2.34. All this was extracted by the apparatus at the same time by the same process. One cord of this wood weighs 5,200 pounds, therefore the value of articles to be gained out of one cord of wood of rich pine wood would amount to $68.52. For the exhibition of this apparatus a premium was recommended by the committee.

BOLTING.

The New York Tribune, in speaking of the late election in that State, says the Republican party was divided into two, and that the fight was consequently that of two small parties against one large one. It was to the feuds thus existing in our party in that State that we owe the loss of three Republican Congressmen, and of quite a number of members of Assembly.

It does not mend the pitcher to tell how it was broken, but it may serve to prevent a repetition of the breaking. It was the feuds that broke the pitcher in this instance; but what caused the feuds?

Party feuds will exist, to a limited extent, in the best regulated organizations, and are traceable to local causes; but when they become general, and affect a party in an entire State, the cause is a general one and not very difficult of detection. If the once triumphant Republican party of New York goes down before the enemy while it has in itself the elements of success, it is not enough to say that feuds divided and weakened it. The essential point is to know what caused the feuds and how they can best be healed.

These feuds began, if we recollect aright, two years ago. The Tribune, at that time, picked out a number of prominent Republicans in the state and denominated them as corrupt. It held up their names to public scorn and contempt, called upon the party in the counties in which those men lived, to defeat their nominations or renomination to office, and when it failed in accomplishing this result, called on the people to "bolt" the nominations. It was then the Tribune proclaimed "this is a good year for bolting" and we believe it was a good year for that practice, so far as the amount of bolting was concerned. At any rate, a great deal of it was done—enough to defeat the party and lay the foundation for interminable local quarrels.

And what has been the result? Defeat, from that day to this, and the party divided into factions which stand confronting each other, glowering into each other's eyes and threatening mutual extermination. The men who sustained the regular nominations against the bolters in 1868, bolted in turn in 1869 against the bolters of the previous year, who now became regulars; and now another lot have been bolting in 1870 to punish the bolters of 1869. The dragon's teeth sown by the bolters of 1868 have thus borne legitimate fruit, the crop increasing with each succeeding year. The feuds of 1870 are the national harvest of that seed time.

No good has ever come of this bolting, and none ever will. It is time for the Republicans of New York to learn that, although they may gratify their vindictive feelings against each other, they can never build up or keep up a party by internal dissensions. The original advice to them, which set them to cutting each other's throats, was bad, and every step taken since, in consequence, has been equally bad. Bolting is no cure for political diseases. Its sole progress is feud. It is incapable of begetting anything else. The first lesson, then, to be learned, is that bolting is the rock ahead to be carefully avoided hereafter. We must make up our minds, if we are to maintain our organization, to abide by party rules and regulations, and to submit when we are beaten. In no other way can a party be kept together. If there is anything wrong in the party rules or regulations, every man has a right to try to better them, but always within the party, and not without. This, it strikes us, is the lesson Republican friends in New York have got to learn. There will always be parties within parties, faction if you choose to call them so, and human wisdom is not capable of preventing that. These parties or factions will naturally strive for the mastery. This, too, is unavoidable. Sometimes one will be up, sometimes the other; but whichever succeeds, the other must learn to submit till its turn or time comes. Let them fight each other as much as they will until nominations are made; henceforth they must be as brothers, or be beaten by the common enemy.

We entreat our New York friends to look this thing in the face and realize that bolting, as a remedy for political evils, is a failure. It has cured no ill, but, on the contrary, made and perpetuated the bitterest of quarrels. Let them give it up, henceforth and forevermore. They can measure swords with each other in their primary meetings; but having tested their strength there, let whoever wins go up head, and whoever is beaten, submit, and wait for the better chance next time.

THE REASON WHY.

From the monthly oil report of the Titusville Herald, we extract the following table, exhibiting the shipments of crude oil (or the equivalent in refined) from January 1st to December 1st, 1870.

	BBLS.
To New York	1,000,082
Cleveland	1,525,954
Boston	139,380
Philadelphia	352,845
Pittsburgh	966,872
Other points	256,682
Total	4,245,515

It will be noticed that Cleveland has received in round numbers SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND BARRELS of oil during this time more than Pittsburgh, and when we remember that only five years ago the former city was scarcely a manufacturing point for oil, and that Pittsburgh was then receiving three-fourths of the entire oil product, in fact was recognized as the head and front of the oil trade, we are naturally led to enquire what has caused this extraordinary change, by which we are placed THIRD in the list instead of first, as we stood only five years ago.

The following figures, carefully compiled, may throw some light upon this subject, and may probably wholly account for this unmistakable decay of one of our most important branches of industry.

The rate of freight from Titusville (oil region) to Philadelphia and New York, via Corry & N. Y. & E. & P. & E. Railroads is, per barrel of 45 gallons	$1 85
Freight from any point on Oil Creek to Oil City, per barrel, is	27
Re-delivery across the Allegheny river (to reach Pittsburgh, via A. V. R. R)	10
Freight to Pittsburgh, on A. V. R. R	50
" to junction (returning en route to Philadelphia)	5
Freight to Philadelphia via Penna. R. R	1 35
Total from oil regions to Philadelphia via Pittsburgh	$2 27
Via Corry, northern route, as above	1 85
Difference per bbl. against Pittsb'gh	42

Again, by the Cleveland route we find about the same thing—witness:

Freight from Oil City to Cleveland	50
From Cleveland to New York	1 25
Total via Cleveland	$1 75
" " Pittsburgh, as above	2 27
Difference per bbl. against Pittsb'gh	52

Now the next question naturally arises, who is to blame for this discrimination in Railroad freights as against the interests of Pittsburgh? We find as follows:

From Pittsburgh to Philadelphia via P. R. R., [illegible] per bbl., distance 360 miles, all rail ... $[illegible]
From Cleveland to New York all rail—distance 606 miles, 246 miles further than P. R. R. route to seaboard ... $1 [illegible]

Comment is unnecessary, and without going further, we cease to wonder why the oil refining business of Pittsburgh is on the wane. But this is not all; the Allegheny Valley railroad also appears to be in some measure to blame for this sad state of affairs and we are bound to add, that in our judgment, it is so unintentionally, for Col. Phillips, its worthy and efficient President, has always exhibited a disposition to cultivate this trade and afford every assistance in his power towards its development, as soon as the wishes of the trade could be brought to his notice.

But nevertheless we find as follows:

Freight from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia via Pennsylvania R. R. (as above), distance 360 miles, down to the bonded warehouse on the Delaware and Schuylkill rivers	$1 35
Freight from Oil Creek to Pittsburgh via A. V. & Oil Creek R. R., distance (average) 150 miles	0 77

According to this statement of facts the matter stands this way: If the Pennsylvania R. R. charges $1,35 for transporting oil 360 miles, then the A. V. & O. C. R. R. should charge 56 cents per barrel for a pro rata rate for 150 miles. Instead of 56 cents per barrel, as shown above, they charge Pittsburgh refiners 77 cents.

In other words, by the rule of three, if the A. V. & O. C. R. R. are entitled to 77 cents per barrel, then the Penn'a R R. should charge $1,85 per barrel, instead of $1,35.

So we find, first that the Pennsylvania Railroad charges $1,85 per barrel for 360 miles of track, whilst the N. Y & E. Railroad charges $1,25 from Cleveland to New York, a distance of 606 miles.

Again, Cleveland refiners get their oil from the creek to Cleveland and thence to New York for $1.75 per barrel, whilst New York and Philadelphia pay $1.85 for about one half of the distance, and worse still, poor Pittsburgh pays for her oil from the creek to sea board, $2.27 per barrel, whilst she has fewer miles to carry her oil from the source, to seaboard, than any of the other cities named.

Now, since this route is the shortest and therefore the best (because barrels are more or less injured and caused to leak by transportation) why is it that we should not have the full benefit of our location and have rates established that would enable us to successfuly compete with our more distant neighbors?

Cleveland of course can credit a portion of the increase of her oil business to the fact that during considerable part of the year they can ship by water across the lake, to Buffalo, thence by Erie Canal to New York; and by this route the freight is much less than by rail. But against this it can be argued that by this route the oil is a long time on the way and necessarily is not carried in as good condition as by rail, and the delay, added to the loss by re-handling, in some measure offsets this advantage which they have naturally over Pittsburgh refiners. But we do not hope to wholly overcome this disadvantage, and only ask for Pittsburgh that which she is really entitled to, the benefit of the shorter route from the oil regions to the seaboard.

Even New York, by some unaccountable means, is beaten in this matter by Cleveland, for the former pays $1.85 from the creek to that city whilst the latter carries the oil one hundred miles west, brings it back again and then takes it over the same route as New York and pays only $1.75 per barrel for the entire route.

Now, is this all? Have we found the reason for the falling off in the oil trade of Pittsburgh, or the reason why our great manufacturing city, nearest to the oil centre, and nearest to the markets is falling away behind the comparatively remote city of Cleveland? Have these two cities done all that could be done to cherish and extend this branch of useful industry? We emphatically say no! Whilst Cleveland and other cities were offering premiums in land for sites for the erection of oil works, we on the contrary were quarreling with the oil dealers about how much oil should be brought to the city, and imposing heavy penalties when these restrictions were not complied with. Whilst Cleveland and other cities were abolishing city taxes from new developments of her oil trade, our City Councils were imposing unheard of tolls for the landing of each barrel of oil on our wharves. Whilst other places were constantly exhibiting large liberality in the shape of encouragement to new enterprises in oil, and oil refineries, Pittsburgh and Allegheny were vieing with each other to see which could impose the greatest number of restrictions and obstacles to the success of this business. We see the result in our diminished trade. We find why we occupy, to-day, the third place, instead of the first among the manufacturers of oil. How could it be otherwise? In a business which has grown to be so vast and extended, as to reach every portion of the inhabitable globe, tramping it down in one place will only cause it to spring up, as in this instance, with redoubled energy in another.

Unless a different policy is at once adopted towards this branch of trade, on the part of our railroads and municipal governments, Pittsburgh will at no distant day find her place at the foot of the list, and witness the wealth, which should be hers, growing out of this vast product of our State, transported to other places, and into other coffers than those of her own citizens.

Why is it that Cleveland has such extraordinary favors and advantages over both New York and Pittsburgh? We would like to hear an explanation for it and will cheerfully lend our columns for the purpose.

LOCOMOTION WITHOUT RAILS.

The effort to secure cheap railroading, by the adoption of a two-foot gauge, with rolling stock to correspond, for purposes of traffic and travel, in regions where the business may never be of sufficient magnitude to warrant the construction of more costly works, shows that there is yet a wide field open to the energetic and ingenious.

While the general public have settled down upon the idea that nothing but railroads will do for rapid land conveyance, it has at last been found that common roads offer facilities for travel not much in arrear of the rail, for speed, while in many other respects they are greatly superior to it, and at a vastly diminished cost.

About a hundred years ago a patent was secured in Scotland, by a gentleman of the name of Moore, for a machine which was to go without the aid of horses, and was to propel all kinds of vehicles. He was so sure of its success that he immediately sold all his own horses, and induced many of his friends to do likewise. Whether the power was to be steam or something else, is not stated; but that he was a century too early, is now manifest. The poor horses which were to be released from the drudgeries of life, through the invention of their friend Moore, have perhaps found it no easy task to drag through another hundred years of toil.

About sixty years after this first attempt, there was again a very persevering effort made, by Mr. Gurney, an Englishman, to practically solve the difficulties attending the propulsion of carriages on common roads, by the aid of, steam. His carriages were operated on different roads, and at rates of speed varying from five to twenty miles per hour, according to the kind of road traversed; but after four or five years' trial, during which they were deemed of sufficient importance to warrant the attention of a Parliamentary committee, they were hauled into their final resting places, because they were unable to make their way over new turnpike roads.

There was just that one difficulty in the way of Gurney's success, but it was then irremediable. The inability to travel over stony roads was owing to the want of elasticity in the tires of the wheels, an objection which could never be overcome, until a substance should be discovered which would combine great tenacity with a high degree of elasticity. And now, very appropriately, Scotland, which accused the first patent for dispensing with horse power on land, comes again forward, and successfully solves the problem of steaming over common roads. This is done by the use of India rubber tires, of three to four inches thick by twelve inches wide. The great thickness of it allows for all degrees of compression while the wheels roll over the uneven surface of the earth, and the breadth gives such an amount of foothold, if we may express it, as to obviate all difficulty of ascent or descent of hills.

Here then is the great difficulty overcome. The iron horse need no longer be built of such weight as to make the earth quake, as when he rushes along with his iron hoofs over the iron rails; but in his place we may put one with hoofs not unlike those of the unshod blooded horse, and then direct his course wherever business may call, with comparative noiselessness yet with all the speed that our busy era demands.

Now, at last, may there be such a horse laugh as shall be heard wherever an earthen road winds it way, for there can the steam car make its flight untrammeled by the straight lines and iron or steel bands that have so long bound him in his course.

The adaptation of India rubber to the purposes of internal commerce, opens up to us an exhaustless area for steam propulsion on land, and will give the needed facilities to all towns where business energy governs the inhabitants. An individual, or a company with small capital, will now be enabled to embark in the business, and the era of mighty monopolies will be past. In fact, that healthy circulation of commerce through the national system will be again restored, which has been more and more interrupted by the struggles of the great rival railway companies, until the currents of trade have been thrown almost into one or two great streams, to the infinite damage of the general prosperity, and the frightful demoralization of the people. For when men holding the most prominent positions become totally absorbed by the chase after wealth and power, the public morality must suffer a rapid deterioration.

Latterly, the absorption of companies has become swift, and the consequent power of a few who control the operations of these vast confluent bodies has become so great as indeed to alarm us for the safety of our republican institutions. India rubber lines may make this all right again, by so vastly ramifying the routes of trade and enlarging the number of persons engaged therein, as to break the power of the monopolists. To some, this hope may appear visionary; but nothing is more clear, than that it needs only some simple, inexpensive method of propelling the steam car over common roads, with the bare earth for its base, at a rate of say twenty miles an hour, to revolutionize the entire business and travel of the land. And this mighty result may flow from the little Scotch invention.

BRIEF TOPICS.

THE LAST OF THE CAMBRIA.

It is painfully evident that but one person survived from the ill-fated Cambria. Three boats are still missing, and the only one which has come ashore is thought to be the same McGartland was rescued from. The fact that the boats have not been found is not considered as affording much ground for hope, since the fishermen say that the coast is so rugged that, even if they came ashore, they would not be preserved to be recognized. The wreckage which has been cast on the Derry and Antrim coast is chopped into pieces so small that it is almost impossible to believe them part of a large steamer. As yet no examination of the caves and rugged shores of Innistrahul has been practicable, owing to the boisterous character of the weather, but the occupants of the lighthouse affirm that, so far as their examination has gone, it has yielded no trace of the absent passengers. An affecting statement is made by the principal lightkeeper. On the night when the Cambria was wrecked he had opened a door or window in the lighthouse, apparently a few minutes after the steamer struck on the rocks. Looking to seaward, he observed a light a short distance away, and suddenly disappeared, and then there rose above the roar of the tempest the agonizing shrieks of men and women, which were quickly stilled. This is the last that was seen of the Cambria.

MISS CUSHMAN.

Miss Charlotte Cushman arrived in New York last Thursday on the Scotia, and the Globe, of that city, learns that she has come to the United States with the intention of making it her future residence and spending the rest of her days in her native land. Some time ago she broke up her magnificent establishment No. 38 Via Gregariania, Rome, disposing of her house and selling her fine stud of horses. She hated to part with her horses, since she is very fond of them. Spending some time at Edinburgh, under medical treatment, she now finds herself in very good health, with the exception of the organic trouble which she has, and for which there is no cure. With the exception of looking a little thinner in the face, she has hardly changed during the past five years. Miss Cushman came to this country direct from the great water cure, Malvern, England. She was accompanied by her friend, Miss Emma Stebbins. Miss Cushman intends to make Newport her future place of residence, but it is doubtful if she will go there until the next season opens.

MODERN ARCHITECTURE.

The N. Y. Times says: According to Dr. Walter, the Vice President of the Institute of American Architects, the public is learning something of the true relations of their art of civilization, and "seldom fail to distinguish the good, the true, and the beautiful from the fictitious and the merely mechanical." We submit to the learned orator that this involves a feat of considerable difficulty on the part of the public, since the worthy professors of the architectural art insist, with the most distressing unanimity, on erecting buildings, the ornamented parts of which can only be discerned by a painful curvature of the neck and no little keenness of vision, while, on a level with the eye, there is nothing save the most tiresome and stereotyped plainness. As to goodness and truth relative to workmanship, there is so little of them to be seen that it is highly creditable in a discriminating public to have preserved any remembrance of them at all.

CARLYLE ON THE WAR.

A letter from Mr. Thomas Carlyle is published in a German paper. It says: So far as my reading goes there never was such a war, never such a collapse of shameless human vanity, of menacing, long-continued arrogance into contemptible nothingness. Blow has followed blow as if from the hammer of Thor, till it lies like a shapeless heap of ruins, whining to itself, "In the name of all the gods and all the devils, what is to become of us?" * * * All Germany may now look forward to happier days in a political sense than it has ever seen since the Emperor Barbarossa left it. My individual satisfaction in all this is great, and all England, I can say all the intelligent in England, heartily wish good fortune to brave old Germany in what it has accomplished—real transformation into one nation no longer the chaotic jumble which invited the intrusion of every evil-disposed neighbor, especially of that ill-disposed France, which has inflicted on it such interminable mischief during the last 400 years, wars heaped upon wars, without real cause except insatiable French ambition.

BRAVE AND NOBLE.

The American Consul at Strasburg, Mr. Felix Petard, is highly praised for his humane conduct during the siege. He was the only consul who remained at his post. An English resident writes: "Mr. Petard's house and offices were burned, and his removal compelled several times; but each time his brave flag floated in a new direction, and reminded us poor foreigners that there remained a good will to save and protect us. Not only Mr. Petard deserves our gratitude but his lady also. The cellar of the house they inhabited at last was opened to the unhappy fugitives from the bombs and shells of the enemy. The worst form of small pox broke out in the crowd in the cellar. This lady, whose charity equaled her husband's forgetting danger and suffering, devoted herself to the care of those around her." While grateful Englishmen bear testimony to an American official, it is due to him that Americans also should know how their flag is honored in his keeping.

A MIGHTY WORK.

The Amsterdam Ship Canal, which has been in progress of building since 1866, and which it is expected will be finished in 1876, ranks next to the Suez Canal in size and the magnitude of the engineering operations. It runs through two shallow lakes, and the plan of construction is to build embankments on each side of the line of the canal, and then dredge out the bed to the requisite depths. A deep excavation is to be made through sand hills from the lakes to the North Sea, and piers formed of large blocks of concrete are to run out about a mile to deep water. These piers will enclose a harbor comprising an area of about two hundred acres, which is to be dredged out to a depth of twenty-four feet below low water mark. The canal will also have three locks eastward of the harbor at the point where it first enters the North Sea. The width of the canal will be 88 feet at the bottom and 195 at the top. The depth is to be 23 feet. The locks willl admit ships of the largest class. These extensive works are now being carried on with great energy, and when completed will promote the commercial prosperity of Amsterdam.

THE TURCOS.

Miss Elise Polko has been visiting the French prisoners in Germany, and speaks thus of the Africans: Lights were put up here and there. The Turcos' streets lay now in deepest shade; only a large tent in the centre was lighted up, and from it suddenly issued a strange, shrill singing. We approached nearer. A few French prisoners stood around. The singing increased in shrillness until it became almost deafening. The curtain before the entry to the tent was thrown half back. There they sat, in a large circle, African forms in the most variegated costumes—black, yellow and brown; physiognomies fit for the gallows beside proud faces; heads of [illegible] expression beside wicked, apish ones. Lacking a tamtam, one of the performers beat time with a leaden spoon upon a frying pan, while the rest clapped their hands and sung an accompaniment. A French under-officer told us that this spectacle commences every evening after sunset, every morning before sunrise, and sometimes even in the middle of the night. No one here knows what it signifies. Is it a battle song, a lamentation of the imprisoned, a kind of divine worship, or a song of joy? Who can tell? We listened as in a dream.

AGRICULTURAL CANDLES

A peculiar tree called the tallow tree grows in China, the fruit of which contains a seed covered with a white, solid, fatty matter, which the natives convert into candles. It is proposed to introduce this tree into South Carolina; the south of France, and Algeria, where there is every prospect of its being successfully cultivated. In China it forms vast forests, and gives rise to a considerable branch of local commerce. The government of British India has introduced it throughout the different regions of the Peninsula, it now being ascertained that it grows equally as well in the Punjaub and the northwest provinces as in China. The fatty matter produced by the tree favorably compares with the finest tallow, and when manufactured into candles, burns with great brilliancy, and emits neither smoke nor disagreeable oder.

A WEEK'S STARVATION.

A sad story of shipwreck and the sufferings of the crew has reached Liverpool. About the middle of September last the North German bark Architect, Captain Weiss, sailed from Quebec with a full cargo of oak timber bound for Antwerp, and everything proceeded well until the 22d September, when the ship, being about four miles to the southwest of Bird Island, struck suddenly on a sunken reef, and took in water so rapidly that she filled up in half an hour afterwards. At about 7:30 o'clock in the afternoon the vessel made a sudden lurch over on her side, capsized and turned bottom side up. The captain and crew, after a desperate struggle succeeded in reaching the vessel and got on the bottom. They had nothing but what they wore when the ship went over, and as for food and water both were out of the question. for the first and second days their sufferings were subdued with the hope that they would soon be seen by some passing vessel; but as the days wore on their physical and mental condition became lamentable in the extreme, and it was not until the seventh day, when they almost ceased to hope, that they were rescued by the bark Russia, of Sligo, in a most exhausted and pitiable state.

THE CENSUS.

The census returns of twenty-eight States have been published, and show that the relative order of the States as to population has not been materially changed from that of 1860. Virginia by the loss of the territory forming West Virginia has fallen from the fifth to the tenth State, and its position is occupied by Missouri, which now takes precedence of Indiana and Massachusetts. The full returns of the Eastern and Middle States have not yet been announced, but New York still holds the first, and Pennsylvania the second place. After these come Ohio with a population of 2,675,468; Illinois with 2,540,216; Missouri with 1,703,000; Indiana with 1,668,169; Massachusetts with 1,457,385; Kentucky, with 1,323,264; Tennessee with 1,258,326; Virginia with 1,209,607; Georgia with 1,185,000; Michigan with 1,184,158; Iowa with 1,177,515; North Carolina with 1,072,000; Wisconsin with 1,052,266, and Alabama with 1,002,000. These make sixteen States with a population over one million, while in 1850 there were only eleven. The largest actual gain in any State was an increase of 800,000 in Illinois.

A PRECOCIOUS PEN.

Paris is not yet taken, but the pen with which Count Bismarck is to sign the treaty of peace is already prepared. Herr Bissenger, we are told, of Pforzheim, has manufactured out of massive gold an imitation of an ordinary stout goosequill. The quill itself is polished, in order that it may be more conveniently handled, but the feather closely resembles a real quill, every fibre being represented, while the back of the feather is thickly studded with brilliants, and below them a Count's coronet and Bismarck's monogram are engraved. Besides the engraver and maker, two goldsmiths were engaged on it for five weeks. The gold employed is of 18 carats, and that part in which the brilliants are set is of 21 carats.

GERMAN SANITARY FUND.

The North German Correspondent of October 22d says: Among the great subscriptions which have lately been forwarded from abroad to the Foreign Office of the North German Confederation, partly for the wounded and partly for the invalides and the surviving relations of the fallen, we may mention the following: —the Germans of St. Petersburg have contributed 60,000 thalers, Batavia has sent £801, Bombay £635, Milwaukee 6,000 thalers, Lima 24,068 thalers, Montevideo £10000, Barranquilla Prince 5136 frances, San Jose £20, Petropolis 515,000 r., Cape Hayti 700 thalers, Samarang about 15000 thalers, Matamoros and Monterey 952 thalers, Ciudad Bolivar 3868 bco. m., San Juan and Mayaguez 10,460 bco. m., Puerto Cabello 4200 bco. m., Penang 2250 bco. m., Hongkong £1500, and Canton £228. The entire sum subscribed in the United States amounts to 350,000 dollars. The contributions have been accompanied by letters expressing a warm sympathy with the success of the German arms, and frequently a regret that the senders are unable to take a personal part in the war. Such expressions as these, and the large sums subscribed show how warm are the feelings of patriotism which still animate the Germans who have sought a new home beyond the Ocean.

CHASE VS. BLACK.

Chief-Justice Chase enters the lists with Senator Wilson in the effort to hunt down and expose the misstatements which Judge J. S. Black lately put forward in regard to members of Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet. The Chief-Justice first of all establishes beyond reasonable doubt that Mr. Stanton opposed Slavery nearly thirty years ago, supporting views which Mr. Chase had set forth as the resolutions of a political convention. He next exposes the misrepresentations of Mr. Black in regard to the retirement of Mr. Cameron from the Cabinet, and states, in terms which no one will question, that Mr. Cameron proposed to resign in order to accept the mission to Russia. Further, the Chief-Justice declares, contrary to the assertion of Judge Black and to the belief now wide-spread among the people, that the Cabinet did not vote "six to one in favor of surrendering Fort Sumter" at the beginning of the war.

THE TIDAL WAVE.

A violent panic recently prevailed on the coast of connecticut, near Stonington and Mystic, in reference to an immense tidal wave, which it was predicted would overwhelm the inhabitants on November 6th. The excitement created a terrible fright on the preceding day particularly, as it was prophesied that the wave would be sixty feet high, and that no ground within ten miles of the coast was high enough to afford a refuge from the inroad of the waters. At Mystic the heights of the hills were measured, many persons retired miles back into the country, or made every preparation to do so. At Stonington the same scenes were witnessed, and the whole town was up and awake during the night of November 5th. The appointed time came at last, and after a period of breathless suspense it was at last ascertained that the prediction had not been fulfilled, the waves only presenting their usual appearance. The news that the towns on the coast had been spared an overflow of the waters was gradually communicated to the country, and the hasty emigrants returned to find their domiciles unharmed, except in cases where thieves had taken advantage of the panic to break in the empty houses.

THE FLIGHT OF THE BIRDS.

The migratory birds have long since gone to the cotton fields and the pine regions of the South. The robins and swallows and thrushes have left the barns and meadows blighted, and have darkened the air with fluttering wings on their passage. Files of wild geese, and flocks of ducks are now following in their wake along the gray skies, and the lonely marshes echo to the sepulchral cries of the loon, which stops to rest in them while he, too, hastens to warmer countries. But while the falling snows blinds, and the Artic cold bites, our woods and fields are not quite devoid of warblers, for the red and white woodpecker, now master of the field, sings gaily on the trees which he forages, and the snow birds chirp in the blast.

GENEVA.

The war has had the effect of inducing personages entertaining very different sentiments to take refuge at Geneva. A correspondent of the Bund writes, on the 18th, that the Ex Queen of Spain has left the Hotel de la Metropole at Geneva, and taken, for six months, the whole of Hotel de la Paix in the same city, for the accommodation of herself and suit of fifty-seven persons. This hotel is on the right bank of the Lake, and commands a view of Mont Blanc. Another visitor of Geneva is Gen. Cluseret. He can obtain no permission to return to France, and no military command, in spite of the advances he has made to Gambetta, and his statement that he wishes to take no part in politics, but merely to resist the foreign invasion. There was besides, at Geneva, the Polish General Bosak-Haucke, formerly a prominent member of the International League of Peace and Freedom, but he has been called away by a telegraphic invitation from Garibaldi, and [illegible] join him at his head-quarters.

PLON-PLON.

Prince Napoleon writes to the editor of the London Daily News as follows: "I read an article in your number of the 26th, in which you mention my name, ascribing quite incorrect conduct to me, to which I give, as far as I am concerned, a formal contradiction. I have come to England on private business. I have not seen Gen. Bourbaki, who left before my arrival. I have not seen Gen. Boyer, whose mission I heard of through the newspapers. As to my relations with Chiselhurst, the facts are these: On my arrival I went to pay my respects to my cousin and her son: I returned there summoned by a telegraphic dispatch. As to what passed with the Empress, permit me to say nothing to the public; those who know me know that my opinions have always been as loyal as they are liberal. I have the highest esteem for Marshal Bazaine, for his glorious army so devoted to France, as well as to its oath, and for the preservation of which it seemed to me everything ought to be attempted. I regret that your article, authorized I know not by whom, compels me to break a silence I should have wished to maintain."

A ZOOLOGICAL STRANGER.

Discovery of An American Giraffe, Seven Feet High.

A gentleman who came down on the Farragut from Fort Buford, says the Sioux City Daily Times, gives us the following information regarding a species of animal hitherto unknown on this continent:

Sir John E. Packenham, an officer in the English army, who has been spending the last year in Her Majesty's Northern provinces, arrived at Fort Buford with an animal of rare beauty, and never before caught on this continent, nor had it been known till late years that this species existed in this country. It is of the same family as the giraffe, or camelopard, of Africa, and is known to naturalists as the Tygomelia. They are known to inhabit the high table lands of Cashmere and Hindoo Rosh, but are more frequently seen on the high peaks of the Himalaya Mountains. The animal was taken when quite young, and is thoroughly domesticated, and follows its keeper like a dog. It is only four months old, and ordinarily stands about five feet high, but is capable of raising its head two feet, which makes the animal seven feet when standing erect. It is of a dark brown or mouse color, large projecting eyes, with slight indications of horns growing out. This wonderful animal was caught north of Lake Athabasca, on the waters of McKenzie's River. It has a craw similar to the pelican, by which means it can carry subsistence for several days. It was very fleet, being able to outfoot the fastest horse in the country. The black dapper spots on the rich brown color make it one of the most beautiful animals in existence, more beautiful than the leopard of the Chinese jungle. Sir John did not consider it safe to transport his pet by water down the Mississippi River, fearing the uncertain navigation and the great change of climate from the Manitabo to the sunny South He has, therefore, wisely concluded to go by St. Paul, Minn. The commander at Fort Buford furnishes him an escort for the trip. He will then proceed through Canada to Montreal, where he will ship his charge to England.

THE BLIND SEE.

Eyes Not Necessary to Distinct Vision.

It is fully established that somnambulists go wherever they please, without hesitation, read and write, and give ample evidence of a power of perception independent of the usual organs of vision. Persons subject to attacks of catalepsy frequently show the same peculiarity. M. Despine, late inspector of the mineral waters of Aix, in Savoy, mentions the following among many other cases: "Not only could our patient hear by means of the palm of her hand, but we have seen her read without the assistance of the eyes, merely with the tips of the fingers, which she passed rapidly over the page that she wished to read. At other times we have seen her select from a parcel of more than thirty letters the one which she was required to pick out; also, write several letters, and correct, on reading them over again, always with her finger ends, the mistakes she had made; copy one letter word for word, reading it with her left elbow, while she wrote with her right hand. During these proceedings a thick pasteboard completely intercepted any visual ray that might have reached her eyes. The same phenomenon was manifested at the soles of her feet, on the epigastrium, and other parts of the body, where a sensation of pain was produced by the mere touch." Persons who have become blind have also been known to acquire the same power, and Harriet Martineau tells of an old lady who had been blind from her birth, and yet saw in her sleep, and in her waking state described the color of the clothing of individuals correctly. In these cases no doubt, perception is, as usual, in the brain, but either all the nerves of the surface have the power of conveying the impressions of light to that organ, or some special parts of the body, as the ends of the fingers, the occiput, or the epigastrium, assume the office of the eyes.

THE MISSING SHIP.

PRINTED BY REQUEST.

Her mighty sail the breezes swell,
And fast she leaves the lessening land,
And from the shore the last farewell
Is waved by many a snowy hand;
And weeping eyes are on the main,
Until its verge she wanders o'er;
But from that hour of parting pain—
Oh! she never was heard of more.

In her was many a mother's joy,
And love of many a weeping fair;
For her was wafted in its sigh
The lonely heart's unceasing prayer;
And oh the thousand hopes untold
Of ardent youth that vessel bore;
Say, were they quenched in ocean cold?
For she never was heard of more.

When on her wild and trackless path
Of desolation doomed to flee,
Say, sunk she 'mid the blending wrath
Of racking cloud and rolling sea?
Where the land but mocks the eye,
Went drifting on a fatal shore?
Vain guesses all! Her destiny
Is dark: she ne'er was heard of more!

The moon hath often changed her form,
From glowing orb to crescent wan;
Mid skies of calm, and scowl of storm,
Since from her port that ship hath gone;
But ocean keeps its secrets well;
And though we know that all is o'er,
No eye hath seen, no tongue can tell
Her fate! She ne'er was heard of more!

LITERATURE AND ART.

GEORGE SAND is writing a novel for Every Saturday.

PETROLEUM wells have been discovered in the state of Vera Cruz.

BULWER LYTTON's new novel, report says, will appear in Blackwood's.

THE venerable William Howitt is engaged in writing a poem on the war.

FIELDS, OSGOOD & Co. have a volume of Brett Harte's poems in press, and nearly ready.

MARK LEMON's notes on the origin and history of Punch have been found, and are to be published.

IT IS SAID that Rosa Bonheur works eight hours a day in her studio, or is dissatisfied with herself.

ANOTHER translation of the Illiad is announced by Mr. J. G. Cordery, of the Bengal Civil Service.

LEYPOLDT & HOLT will shortly publish anothe of Taine's works—his "Art in the Netherlands."

THE governor of the state of Vera Cruz proposes to establish a gymnasium in connection with the schools there.

"CLEMENT MAROT AND OTHER STUDIES" is the title of a new work in press, from the pen of Professor Henry Morley.

LEE & SHEPARD are to publish a work on "The Philosophy of Art," by a new English art critic, Samuel P. Long.

THE Athenæum understands that Mr. Swinburne has in contemplation a poem founded on one of the mediæval romances.

THE popular poet, Mr. Joaquin Villalobos, proposes to give public lectures every Sunday in Mexico, to instruct the million.

RAILWAY works are progressing rapidly in Mexico, and before long there will be railway connection between Vera Cruz and the capital.

MRS. PALISSER, well known for her "History of Lace," is bringing out, in England, a curious work, copiously illustrated, on "War Cries, Devices, Emblems, etc."

IT is stated that a London publisher has offered $10,000 for the exclusive right, for ten years, of publishing the revised version of the Bible now in progress in England.

MISS ADELAIDE PHILLIPS is giving concerts in the Eastern States with Levy, the cornet player, Boscowitz, the pianist, and a new tenor named Leoni, who is a war fugitive from Paris.

THE spirited descriptions of the German army before Metz which have excited so much interest in the London Daily News, were written by Mr. Archibald Forbes, formerly editor of the London Scotsman.

MARK TWAIN has won his greatest triumph. The London Saturday Review denounces the waggeries of his "Innocents Abroad" in sober earnest, as specimens of the "offensive ignorance of the vulgarist kind of a Yankee."

THE reigning Duke of Meiningen, one of the Prussian commanders, has executed a fine crayon drawing of the battle of Sedan, where he was present. It has been published in Germany, and attracts a good deal of attention.

THREE of the stories to be included in the forthcoming volume of William Morris are "The Ring given to Venus," a legend which was treated by Tom Moore in his earlier poems, "The Hill of Venus" and "Bellerophon in Lycia."

THE crop of novels for the autumn in England promises to be abundant. New stories are announced from Edmund Yates, Mr. Whyte Melville, Lady Emma Wood, the Hon. W. G. Craven, Mrs. Brookfield, and the author of "Guy Livingstone."

FIELDS, OSGOOD & Co.'s illustrated Christmas book of "Winter Poems," contains poems old and new, by Mr. Bryant, Professor Longfellow, Mr. Whittier, Mr. Emerson, and has excited considerable interest in England in advance of its publication.

THE sister arts of music and design will lend their aid to the new book of Tennyson, which will consist of twelve poems connected by a love story. Mr. Arthur Hughes will furnish a picture for each poem, and Mr. Sullivan will supply the musical score. The whole will be sumptuously bound as a square octavo.

DR. HOLMES has changed the title of his little volume which Fields, Osgood & Co. are to publish. It will be entitled "Mechanism in Thought and Morals; An Essay read before the Phi Beta Kappa Society at Cambridge, with Notes and afterthoughts." These latter have doubled the bulk of the original essay, and will bring the volume up to about a hundred pages.

OF BALFE a western paper aptly remarks that "his idea of an opera was not a grand one; it amounts only to the stringing of a few sweet ballads on a slender thread of action, rather than the musical working out of a dramatic conception in a coherent and artistic whole; but he has nevertheless so far succeeded as to break down the assumption that the English tongue could never be smoothed to the purposes of operatic song, and for this we thank him."

THE Augsburg Gazette gives the account of a Wurtembergian officer who was on horseback close to the window of the room where the interview between King William and the Emperor took place. The King showed the Emperor a map indicating certain points thereon, speaking in a very lively manner. He then drew a document from his pocket which Napoleon signed. The Prince Royal was then admitted into the room, and shortly after the interview ended.

LIPPERHEIDE, a Leipzig publisher, has brought out a collection of the war songs of Germany, which has been extended to seven numbers. More than 100,000 thalers have been already gained as a net profit from the sale of these lyrics, and handed over to the Central Committee of the German societies in aid of the wounded and invalids. No. 7 contains in fac simile the autograph original draft of the "Wacht am Rhein," furnished by the poet's widow, who has expressly forbidden any other reproduction to be made.

The Lungs and the Life.

The importance of the lungs to health of the human body are too well known to need much discoursing about. Every man knows when he gets a cough that unless it is cured it will fasten on the lungs and destroy life. What thousands of coughs and incipient consumptions could be cured by a timely resort to Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, which not only heals the ulcers in the lungs but at the same time purifies and enriches the blood, and opens the obstructions which hinder the free action of the lungs! No better medicine for coughs and consumption is made by Dr. Keyser, of 167 Liberty street Pittsburgh. If your druggist does not keep it send five dollars to Dr. Keyser, and he will send four bottles securely boxed, by express, with full directions how to use it.

A NATIONAL MEDICINE.

One can hardly pick up a newspaper or turn a street corner now a-days that he does not find, staring him in the face, the announcement that Prof. So-and-so has just discovered a medicine which is a panacea for all the ills that flesh is, or may be heir to. These "wonderful" discoveries usually have an existence of a few months, then disappear from public notice. The reason of their sudden extinguishment is apparent. They were humbugs. At the outset all medical preparations have an equal chance for success, as all are equally unknown, but the chaff is soon winnowed from the grain by the practical test which an unprejudiced public applies to all things. There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any length of time. One of the few which we have now in mind, and which has been a long time familiar to nearly every household in the land, is the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Their almost universal sale and use, and their emphatic endorsement from all portions of the country, compel the admission that they must be a specific for the ailments for which they are recommended. Letters before us attest their efficacy in diseases of the throat, bowels and liver. In that truly terrible complaint, dyspepsia, they are regarded as a sure cure. In Pittsburgh, where these Bitters are manufactured, their sale for home use is immense. This fact alone speaks volumes in its favor.—Extracts from the Muscatine Courier, Iowa, Feb. 7, 1870.

Keep Your Houses Clean,
AND
BY USING THE
Wellman Patent Reflector Grate.
WHICH STANDS WITHOUT A RIVAL.
We claim for it the following advantages over any other in use:
1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity.
2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—very little soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.
3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.
4th. As an economiser of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.
5th. It is highly ornamental.
6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.
7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.
Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 3d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 66 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

THE DAILY GAZETTE.

MONEY AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Nov. 12, 1870.

The demand for loans during the week has been favorably met throughout. The National Banks and private banking houses have had a full supply of good paper and manage to keep balances in active use, while borrowers have had but little occasion to complain of difficulty in obtaining money, or of high rates for its use. While there is doubtless a large amount of "renewing," it is yet true that the general character of discount lines in our various banks will compare very favorably with those of any previous season. Now and then a house in hitherto fair standing drops below the average, or perhaps is forced "out of bank" entirely, but such occurences have been rare during the year, and their variety is a great surprise to the croakers, who predicted universal panic and disaster as we approach specie payments. We may be permitted to doubt whether it would require much further "setting the house in order" to make a full resumption of specie payments quite harmless.

The local stock market continues dull. There was some effort made yesterday and to-day to revive speculation in gold, and rates were put up to 111⅛, but our closing quotations show a decline to 111.

Governments were heavy all day, and closed weak at an average decline of ⅛ throughout the list.

The railway list looked blue, and the feeling for a time was bearish enough, but at the close of the day it was found that taking the entire list quotations had been very well maintained. The reports so industriously circulated in reference to St. Paul dividend, and the offer of a prominent bear to sell the dividend in January for two per cent. had the effect desired, and the common stock fell off to 60, and the preferred to 80. The 4 P. M. quotations, however, show a slight recovery —common 60¾; preferred 80¾.

SOUTHERN SECURITIES STRONG AND ACTIVE.

The distribution of wealth in the southern States by the gradual revival and expansion of cotton culture is a steady influence operating to enhance the intrinsic value of southern securities. The market has of late become strong, and to-day the southern list was fairly active for Virginias, which are in demand on European account, the Louisianas, which are in request for domestic investment; the North and South Carolinas. The South Carolinas have constituted the feature of more recent dealings, and are particularly strong. The "January and July" issues, which will receive three per cent. gold coin interest on the 1st of January rose to 73¾ and closed at [illegible]. The general market was firm and closed on the street the following quotations: Tennessees, ex coupon, 61@62; do new, [illegible]; Virginias, ex coupon, 62@67; do. new, [illegible]; do. registered stock, old, [illegible]; Georgia 6's, 81@81; 7's, 90@92; do. do. old, [illegible]; North Carolina, ex coupon, 47@48; do. funding, 1866, [illegible]; do. 1868, [illegible]; do. new, [illegible]; do. special tax, [illegible].

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, November 12, 1870.

Trade in general merchandise has been moderately active during the week which has just closed, there having been a fair volume of business in the aggregate, which in regard to values there have been few changes of any importance. The demand for all of the leading commodities is almost entirely consumptive, their being an almost entire absence of anything like speculation, and while the receipts continue large, still there is no great accumulation of stocks, though supplies of almost everything are fully up to the demand.

APPLES—The receipts continue large, and while the demand [illegible] the market is dull and if anything weaker, [illegible] for fair to choice.

APPLE BUTTER—[illegible]

ASHES—[illegible]

BEANS—[illegible]

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is dull and drooping [illegible].

BUTTER—Continues dull, with continued [illegible].

[illegible]

FEATHERS—The demand rather better; [illegible].

FLOUR—The receipts from the west continue liberal and the market is pretty well stocked, though with a steady local trade. Prices are fully maintained. We continue to quote western flours, in store, at $5.75@6.25 for spring, $6@6.50 for red winter and $7@7.25 for white. Rye flour $4.25@4.50 and [illegible].

GRAIN—There is a good milling demand for wheat, and the mills are taking all that offers at quotations—$1.15@1.20 for red, and $1.30@1.35 for white. The receipts for some time past have been light. Oats dull, notwithstanding the stock is by no means large; sales on track and wharf at 45@47—small sales in store at 48@50. Dealers are not disposed to pay over 43@44, and furnish sacks. Rye is quiet and nominally unchanged, 80@85 buying, and selling; the offerings all season have been unusually light, and some dealers are inclined to think that the crop this year must have been a light one. Corn is rather firmer and the demand is better, though there is no quotable advance in prices; new is still quoted at 55@60, and old at 70@75, buying and selling. There seems no stir in barley here, notwithstanding the improvement in the west; brewers and maltsters are reported as being pretty well stocked, and consequently not disposed to buy for the present; we continue to quote Penn. and Ohio spring at 80@85, and fall at 90 @91.

GROCERIES—The grocery trade is reported less active, the demand having fallen off considerably recently; however there is no change to make in quotations, excepting rice, which has declined about one cent. Sugars and coffees steady and unchanged.

COFFEE—Choice Rio, 22; Prime, 21¼; Good 21; Fair, 20; Ordinary, 18½@19; Java, 28; Laguayra, 22. Roasted Coffee loose, 28; in papers, 26.

SUGARS—New Orleans, 11⅛@12⅛ for old, and 13 for new; Porto Rico, 10⅛@12; Cuba, 10⅛@11⅛. Box Sugars, 11@12; Demarara, 12⅛ @13⅛. Refined—Standard Hards, 14⅛; A, 13⅛; B, 13⅛; Ex C, 13⅛; C Y M, 12⅛.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, 85@90 for old crop, and $1.15 for new; Porto Rico, 60@70; Demarara, 75.

HAY—Sold in Allegheny to-day, at from $16@25 according to quality and condition.

HONEY—Sales at 20@25 cts.

ONIONS—Dull though unchanged; $3@3.50 per bbl for fair to good; and $4 for prime silver skins.

POTATOES—The receipts are on the increase but with a steady demand prices are well sustained, 70@75 for Buckeyes, and Prince Alberts and 80@85 for Peach Blows. Sweets are firm but unchanged at $4.25@4.50 per bbl.

POULTRY—Live chickens quoted at 50@55c per pair, and dressed at 12@14 cts per lb. Live Turkeys, $1.00@1.50 each; dressed at 16@18 cts per lb.

RAGS—Quoted at 4@4¼.

SALT—Is quoted at $1.60@1.65 by the car load, with the usual advance for small lots in store.

PROVISONS—There is little or nothing doing in Bacon, not enough to establish prices. Small sales of new Lard at 16½c in tcs. We can also report sales of new mess pork at $24@25.

SEEDS—We are reported sales of 200 bush clover seed at $6.75@7. No demand for timothy seed. Flaxseed is in steady demand at $2.10@2.12.

TALLOW—Rendered, at 8½@8¾c.

TURNIPS—Very dull and in good supply; may be quoted at 65@70c per bushel.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, November 12, 1870.

The oil market has been sensitive and irregular during the week which has just closed fluctuating more or less every day, although the fluctuations were very slight, never exceeding a ¼ or an ⅛; indeed, we never remember as much fine figuring, and notwithstanding there were so little difference between buyers and sellers, there was but comparatively few sales. In many instances brokers would have hard work to consummate a sale, notwithstanding there may only have been an eighth or even a sixteenth between the principals, and in some instances it was impossible to get them together with only this difference between them. Compared with the early part of the week there has been but little change in prices, though, as already noted, there was scarcely a day that the market, particularly for refined, did not change three or four and even half a dozen times. It would open steady in the morning, an advance would be established before noon; in the afternoon, it would weaken, and by evening, the advance established in the early part of the day, would be almost if not entirely lost.

Receipts crude this week, 10,543 bbls; last week, 22,146; January 1st to date, 941,217; same time last year, 777,931. Exports refined this week, 10,130; last week, 11,275; January 1st to date, 660,184; same time last year, 517,940. Sales this week, 23,600 bbls crude, 12,000 refined; last week, 30,900 bbls crude, 11,250 refined.

Steady for early and dull for future deliveries. But a single sale reported, 1,000 bbls, seller November at 8 15-16; spot may be quoted at 9; seller November, 8⅞@9; December, 8⅞; seller all year, 8⅞; seller next six months 8¾; buyer first half 1871, 10@10⅛; buyer all 1871, 12@12¼.

RIVER NEWS.

The river has not, and it is something remarkable, varied an inch either way for a couple of days, the marks yesterday afternoon indicating three feet ten inches. Weather clear and pleasant.

The St. Charles, from Cincinnati, is the only arrival we have to report. The Julia No. 2, from Zanesville, is due this morning.

The Argosy has laid up at Wheeling. She only made one trip, and unless business in the Wheeling trade improves considerably it is not likely that she will make another one very soon.

The Brill, an excellent low water boat is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville forthwith. She can take almost a full cargo on the present water.

The new steamer Oceanus had steam up for the first time on Saturday, and her machinery is said to have worked well. She is almost completed, and we fear will be ready for business before there is water.

Capt. James Russell, an old steamboatman, has gone into the boot and shoe business in Allegheny. He has an old established stand on Federal street, just above the railroad depot, where he will be glad to have his numerous friends call and see him.

Capt. J. R. Richardson, an old steamboatman, but who for several years has been engaged in the drug business at New Castle, Pa., has sold out and contemplates returning to steamboating again.

As will be seen by card, the neat and light steamer Brill, Capt. Dan Moore, is announced to depart for Cincinnati and Louisville this evening. Capt. W. W. Auld and Mr. John Worrell are associated together in the office.

The Carrie Brooks departed for Zanesville on Saturday.

—The Wheeling Intelligencer of Saturday says: The steamer Argosy met with an accident last Wednesday at Pittsburgh while rounding out for her return trip to this city. The wind was blowing very hard at the time, and forced the Argosy against the wheel of a tow boat lying at the wharf, tearing off all stationary fenders, the [illegible] and cook house on the star[illegible] er reach[illegible] dropp[illegible] where [illegible] The w[illegible] injured, but to what [illegible] learn.

—The following boats will run in the Louisville and New Orleans trade during the approaching fall and winter season: P. W. Strader, Virginia, Nick Longworth, City of Quincy, Indiana, Charles Bodmann, Robert Mitchell, Mary Houston and Louisville. Several other boats are being negotiated for, among them the St. Marys and Kate Kinney.

—The New Orleans Republican of Wednesday says: Captain De DeHaven, who has been in the city for several days, leaves again this afternoon, and his next visit, we are assured, will be on the deck of the Alpha, the pioneer steamer of the Mississippi Valley Navigation Company's line.

—The Cincinnati Commercial says: Inquiries are being made by Pittsburgh parties as to the identity of the man reported crushed between two boats at New Orleans. He is thought to have been Will T. Corbet, of Pittsburgh.

—A late Memphis paper says: Commanders and clerks of steamers were yesterday considerably interested over a sudden advance in coal. They are now required to pay 70 cents per box for Big Muddy and 80 cents for Pittsburgh.

—The St. Marys left St. Louis on Friday for Portland, with 500 tuns pig iron for Louisville. On her arrival at Portland she will load for New Orleans, leaving on Wednesday next.

—The lock gates to the new canal will be put in next week, when everything will be in readiness for a rise to let boats go through the old canal, if the mud is removed from the locks.

—A Keokuk dispatch says: All work on the Government canal was suspended this afternoon on account of the appropriation being expended.

—Ed Moore, bar-keeper on the Tahlequah, was shot and killed by John Lecroix at New Orleans yesterday. The murderer escaped.

—The Robert E. Lee took into New Orleans last Monday, 4,648 bales of cotton and 1,920 sacks seed.

—The Juniata was to have left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Sunday.

WORK OF CHRISTIAN WOMEN.

An Anniversary Gathering—The Woman's Christian Association—Third Annual Meeting—Review of the Year—Address by a City Missionary—Experience of a Primitive Worker—An Interesting Programme.

The Third anniversary meeting of the Woman's Christian Association of this vicinity was held last evening in the First Presbyterian Church, Wood street, Rev. S. F. Scovel, pastor. There was in attendance a very large audience, comprising representatives from nearly all the Protestant churches hereabouts, and the gathering was one marked by much enthusiasm.

The pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Wm. Preston, D. D., of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Rev. M. W. Jacobus, Western Theological Seminary, Rev. G. G. Mingins, of New York, and Rev. Mr. Scovel, pastor.

The exercises were preceded with a voluntary by the choir, after which the audience joined in singing the "Coronation,"

"All hail the power of Jesus name,
Let angels prostrate fall;
Bring forth the royal diadem
And crown him Lord of all."

Rev. Dr. Jacobus followed in prayer.

Hon. Robert McKnight was now introduced and read the annual reports, as follows:

THIRD ANNUAL REPORT OF THE WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The close of another year calls for a third summary of work done by this Association. While it can fairly be claimed that great things have been accomplished, as a whole, yet all departments have not met with equal success.

It may be well to repeat that several distinct organizations are combined in this Association, each having a separate board of Officers and Managers, but the same President.

The institutions thus inaugurated now number five: The "Temporary Home for Destitute Women," "Christian Home for Women," "Boarding House for Working Women," The "Industrial School." Separate reports will be presented from the Secretary of each of these.

The work first begun by this Association is the one least encouraging in its extent and results.

We refer to tract distribution and general missionary work throughout the city.

Three different plans have been tried since our organization: the first, that of making distribution individually responsible to the Association. Second, giving each district in charge of a certain church, and finally, appointing a Lady Manager to every district, who was expected to find her own visitors, and become personally responsible to the Association for the accomplishment of the work.

Twenty-one Managers were selected in January of this year, but not more than one-third have performed the work assigned them.

As the districts were not visited, when assigned to churches, it was hoped this plan, which had been so successful in Allegheny for years, would be equally so here.

The one hopeful feature in the case is, that despite the interruptions inevitable during the warm weather, and the neglect and unfaithfulness of many visitors, still a few noble workers have persevered through all the year, and in the fall the results are encouraging.

The number of families visited is about double that of last year, and nearly three times as many tracts have been distributed, with an increase of 4,000 papers.

The sum total of work done this year is as follows: 146 reports received; 1,488 families visited; 1,037 families attend church; 138 do not; 3 promised to go; 1,694 children, and all of 112 other families, go to Sabbath School and 479 do not; 33 children were brought into Sabbath School, and 35 promised to attend; 15 families were found destitute of the Bible and 8 supplied; 9 Bohemian women were found; 11,100 English tracts, 2,272 English papers, 360 German tracts, 267 German papers and 172 small books have been distributed; 16 persons refused tracts; 2 subscribers were obtained for papers. The visitors were instructed to sell the papers to those able to purchase, and thus make the association, in a measure, self-supporting.

Two changes have been made in the Board of Officers and managers, by the resignation of Miss A. C. Shaw, Treasurer, and Mrs. R. Robison, Manager. Mrs. W. P. Logan was elected to fill the former, and Mrs. C. B. King, the latter vacancy.

During the year meetings were called by this Association, which have resulted in the formation of a "Woman's Union Infirmary Society," to aid the "Zenana" work in India and help raise funds to complete an orphan asylum in Calcutta.

The "Springfield Mission Sabbath School," in the Twelfth ward, whose origin was mentioned in last year's report, still numbers 125 scholars. They have earned and contributed $30 to the Zenana work.

Miss R. S. Wade, Secretary of the "Industrial School," reports its opening in the "Gilmore Mission" building, on the 22d of January, 1870, under the direction of Mrs. Whitely and Mrs. C. B. King, assisted at different times by twenty-two teachers.

Eighteen sessions of the school were held, the last being May 21st. The roll-book contains the names of 134 scholars; the number present at the first session, 12; and the largest number at any one time, 93.

One hundred and one articles were made by the children and given to them. Several donations of money and materials were received.

The thanks of the managers are due to Mr. James B. Semple, for his kindness as Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, in paying the salary of the woman employed as janitor.

The expenses were only for coal and working material. A balance of $5.50 remains in the treasury.

The children seemed much interested and anxious to know when the school would reopen this fall.

It is expected that effective measures will soon be taken for the erection of the "Christian Home for Women," upon the property at Wilkinsburg, donated for that purpose by Mr. Kelly. The managers continue to be impressed with the urgent need of such a "Home" out of the city, by their experience in the management of the "Temporary Home."

It is hoped a suitable building can be erected for $12,000. Mr. Bailie, the architect, is preparing a plan of the "Home" which he intends donating to the Association. In the spring, the property will be suitably enclosed.

Mrs. Poindexter, Mrs. James Irwin and Mrs. Frank Woods have been appointed a committee to draft a constitution and make other arrangements preparatory to commencing the building during the coming year.

Any subscriptions for this object will be gladly received by this committee.

In May, of this year, the pressing need of the long-thought-of "boarding-house for working women" was urged again by some members of this Association. A committee was appointed to confer with ladies in Allegheny, already interested in the work, and as a result, a society has since been formed, and measures have been taken to establish such an institution, all of which is more fully stated by the Secretary of the same.

Through the kindness of the Y. M. C. A. our meetings have been held in the parlor of their Association, corner of Penn and Sixth streets. [illegible]

All interested in the work of the Association are cordially invited to attend the regular monthly meetings, held on the last Thursday of each month at 2½ o'clock in the parlor of the Y. M. C. A.

The congregation again united in singing the Two-hundredth Hymn, commencing,

"When Jesus dwelt in mortal frame, church; after that the work was much easier. For this work, who were more fitted, who were so efficient, as women? Connected with the New York city mission were seven hundred workers, nine-tenths of whom were women,—representatives from the mistress of the

to the humble washerwoman who daily toiled for the necessaries of life. The speaker here gave an interesting but somewhat extended account of the work done in New York by these Christian women as City Missionaries. The success has been so great that they had established a Theological school—a training Home for Women, and they had graduated the first, a Scotch girl, last week. They intended to teach women to preach, not to get up in the pulpit, but to proclaim the word everywhere, in whatever place they might be. They were simply to talk and if a woman could [illegible] talk he didn't know who could. [illegible] instance of the effectiveness of [illegible] woman worker, [illegible] through whose instrumentality annually fifty souls had been saved; during the last ten years five hundred had been soundly converted and joined the church in New York, and she was working yet. Another had been taken up, and although unable to read or write had worked faithfully for two years, at the end of which time she had learned to read and write and then had given herself up entirely to the work, and for fifteen years had been employed as a city missionary. During that time at least one thousand persons had been brought to God through her influence. A year ago one of the women employed as a city missionary had organized

A TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

She was compelled to be President, Secretary, Treasurer and Temperance Lecturess; to-day the organization numbers fifteen hundred.

In conclusion he made an urgent appeal to the women of the churches of Pittsburgh to be "up and doing" and urge on the advancement of the glorious work.

A collection was then taken up and quite a handsome sum realized. Cards were also distributed upon which the names of ladies wishing to unite with the Association, the membership being thereby considerably increased.

Rev. Mr. Scovell announced that Rev. Mr Mingins would address the students of the Western Theological Seminary this afternoon at three o'clock, in the chapel of the institution, upon the theme, "Work among the masses." Arrangements had been made for the accommodation of visitors, and a cordial invitation was extended to the public.

Mr. H. Thane Miller, of Cincinnati, was next introduced, and sang "The Prodigal Child," an exquisitely beautiful and touching melody. He was assisted in the chorus by the choir. Mr. Miller followed with prayer, and the audience was dismissed with the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Wm. Preston.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL.

Children's Meeting.

One of the largest mass meetings of children that ever assembled in the city was held Sabbath afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church (Rev. Mr. Scovel pastor) at 2½ o'clock. Almost all our city Sabbath Schools were represented, in addition to which many of the Allegheny schools sent delegations. Long before the appointed hour, the neatly clad scholars from school after school poured into the large and magnificent edifice, until all the available space was occupied. The aisles and doorways and even the pulpit platform were crowded with the anxious throng. The cause of this great outpouring of the children, their teachers and friends was to be found in the fact that two such men as Thane Miller, of Cincinnati, and Rev. G. H. Mingins, of New York—names not only known over all this country but in Europe—were to be present.

Rev. S. F. Scovell presided and conducted the exercises with that tact and ability possessed by so few. The meeting was opened by singing the one hundred and third Psalm and prayer by Mr. Bakewell. The children then joined in singing the hymn

"Jesus the water of life will give Freely, Freely, Freely."

After which Mr. Scovell introduced Mr. Miller to the audience.

Before proceeding to address the children, Mr. Miller sung the sweet hymn, "Reach me thy hand, my child." Words fail to express the effect on the meeting as his voice in tones sweet over the audience in clear, silvery cadence and anon in sweet, low, melting, tenderest melody. Tears started unforbidden from the eyes of little and even big ones, hearts almost ceased their beatings, and solemn stillness reigned supreme—such was the power of song.

The address of Mr. Miller was touching and tender and created a profound impression upon all.

Rev. Mr. Mingis followed. His great lifework is among the children. No other man in the land deserves better the title of "children's preacher." He held the multitude of children for over half an hour in breathless silence.

The hymn "Beautiful River" was then sung, Mr. Miller singing the solo and the audience taking up the chorus and rolling the great melody up to God.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer and benediction by Rev. Dr. Young.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

Two Alleged Thieves Secured—The Charges Against Them.

Several days ago Mr. Hanley, engineer on the Pan Handle road, made information before Alderman Neilli, of Allegheny, charging John Garrett and James Brown with larceny. Hanley and a workman employed on the road had been robbed of their watches a few evenings previous while sleeping in a caboose car at the Union Depot. Brown and Garrett had been seen loafing about the place and it was supposed they were the thieves. A warrant was issued, but the chaps had disappeared. Friday night officer Poland received a dispatch stating that they had been arrested at Uhrichsville, Ohio. He went down on Saturday and returned the same evening with the men, who were committed to jail for a hearing.

This is not the only charge against the parties. An information was made some days since before Alderman Mullen, of Allegheny, charging them with robbing Patrick McNelly, on West street, by which some three hundred dollars in money was secured. There is also a charge pending against them at the Allegheny Mayor's office for robbing Allison's saloon, in the Diamond in that city, and they are also charged with having been concerned in the robbery of Mr. Rose, on Water street, and also in that of Mr. Samuel Young, a butcher residing on North avenue, near Beaver street. An information charging them with the Rose robbery was made before Alderman Bowden. The accused were not arrested on any of the charges referred to, but it is probable that if they are brought to this city they will be given a hearing on them.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Donated by managers during the winter of 1869-70: 11,175 bushels coal, of which 4,300 bushels were given as from the "Brewer Fund;" 2,156 pounds flour; 28 pounds coffee; 12 gallons molasses; 10½ bushels potatoes; 12 pounds soap; 43 pounds sugar; 4 bushels corn meal; 1 bushel beans; 7½ pounds tea; besides bread, codfish, etc., etc., in the way of provisions. We gave 736 yards flannel; 224 yards muslin; 412 yards calico; 213 pairs shoes; 19 pairs stockings; 40 yards alpaca; a shawl; 12 bonnets; 5 hats; 2 sheets; 2 blankets; 20 pounds cotton batting; 3 scarfs, 4 bedsteads; 2 bibles; 1 broom, and a large amount of half-worn clothing. As year after year rolls round, bearing in its arms our life histories, the tale of want and woe is so oft repeated that it becomes painful to listen to and monotonous in its details. If the hearing is painful what must the endurance be? If the repetition is monotonous, surely, surely, the reality is anything else. Our Relief Society has once more started on its yearly career of benevolence, and as the winter, hard season for the poor, approaches, we come before our friends asking them to lay the case to heart, and with the means God has given to so many, help us in our work.

Let each one that reads this article judge himself, or herself by the definition of Christian giving, furnished by a philanthropist: "Giving liberally is giving to that point where it becomes self-denial." We have given above the result of last year's work. Many small items, and delicacies for the sick are not mentioned, but enough is here to show our need for the coming winter, and the work accomplished during the past year. M. H. F.

JOHN T. GRAY.

A Few Notes on House and Sign Painting—A Successful Establishment.

In soot stained black and gloomy Pittsburgh the house painter is an indispensable institution, for appearances must be kept up regardless of cost. Nothing is more conducive to prosperity than paint. To illustrate this assertion we have in memory a story of the experience of a new and now wealthy firm who succeeded a bankrupt one in the same house and line of business. Contrary to the advice of every one, these gentlemen embarked in the sinking business and the first investment was paint. The old building was rejuvenated and made appear fresh and cheerful, and in its brightness, advertised that new blood was infused into the house, and things looked prosperous. Trade came and the partners to-day tell their friends that "fifty dollars worth of paint saved the old established house and brought the nucleus of custom around which we have built up our vast patronage." There should be more painting done in our two cities than our people have been doing, but we do not propose discussing the many advantages arising to the city and to individuals from the generous use of the painter's brush. We want to speak especially of an establishment which is perhaps known and appreciated by many readers. We refer to the extensive and well appointed shop of John T. Gray, No. 54 Ninth (late Hand) street, which occupies a leading position in patronage and popular favor. The building is a three story brick one, and no house in the city presents a front more gorgeous in coloring or more beautiful in artistic lettering and ornamentation. Its surface presents every shade and hue of coloring and the lettering is marvelously correct, fine, studied and artistic. Conspicuous in its decoration is the cloud sign, the idea of the enterprising proprietor in fancy gilded wooden letters running along the roof, and to the eye appearing to have no support whatever. They are delicately cut and fastened on slim iron rods running above the house and not discernable to pedestrians. In the night time these letters, with the sky as a background, can be readily made out, so that in light or darkness the sign can be read. Mr. Gray is the inventor of this style of sign, and has applied for a patent. This will certainly prove very popular for the purposes. In addition to the elaborate ornamentation of the front, the fine lettering and painting in gay colors, Mr. Gray furnishes another evidence of his taste and enterprise in a mammoth net sign hanging from a rope across the street. This is an unique, neat and beautiful style of sign which "he who runs may read." It is being very generally adopted in this and other cities. Mr. Gray has the agency for it in Pittsburgh and the general West, and gets it up on reasonable terms. Altogether, Gray's paint shop is an attractive place and adorns Ninth street. It will repay the time spent in visiting and inspecting the clever workmanship on its outer walls. The reputation of Mr. Gray as an artistic house and sign painter is well established in this city, and on all sides may be found evidences of his superior skill and workmanship. The interior painting of the First Presbyterian Church, on Wood street, is a fair sample of his work, a contract that was awarded and executed by him, although several competitors made proposals to do the same at lower figures. His strong claims for patronage are based on these facts: He uses nothing but the purest and best qualities of lead, French zinc and varnishes; he employs only experienced, capable, steady and efficient painters, and claims to have the best in the State; he permits no job of work to be slighted, be it great or small, doing everything well and faithfully; his prices are reasonable, receiving on all work a very small margin of profit. Mr. Gray has received and continues to receive a large share of patronage and has the facilities for executing all manner of work at the slightest notice. He attends to house painting, graining, elaborate sign painting on wood or glass, plain and ornamental, and to glazing. He has the agency for the celebrated Boston Diamond and Fluted Glass plates for doors and floors. While this glass is very superior in quality, it is likewise exceedingly cheap and serviceable. We can confidently recommend Mr. Gray to the patronage of our readers, and conscientiously endorse the style and quality of his workmanship, as we have had personal experience and dealings with him in rejuvenating our own building. Try him once and our word for it he will be your choice of painters forever after.

DROWNED.

Accident at Oceola—A Skiff Capsized and Three Persons Drowned.

A lamentable accident occurred at Oceola, on the Youghiogheny River, Saturday evening, by which three persons—two men and a young lady—were drowned, and two other men narrowly escaped death. Miss Campbell, a young lady about seventeen years of age, her brother William Campbell, a few years her senior, Edward Pryor, Michael McBride, and another man whose name we did not learn, residing in the vicinity of Oceola, but on the opposite of the river, having business in the village, got in a skiff to cross the river. They had proceeded about half way across the stream when they discovered that the boat was leaking and filling with water very rapidly. An attempt was made to "bail out," but with the limited means for that purpose at hand it proved ineffectual, and the boat sank in about 15 feet of water. As soon as it was discovered that the boat was sinking, McBride and the other man, whose name we did not ascertain, seized hold of the side of the sinking craft and held on, while the others, it appears, left it with a vain hope of reaching the shore, but perished in the attempt. McBride and his companion held on to the boat until assistance arrived from Oceola shore and rescued them from their perilous situation. Immediate search was made for the bodies of those who were drowned, but up to a late hour Saturday night they had not been recovered.

Amusements

New Opera House.—Mrs. Scott Siddons closed a very successful engagement at the Opera House last Saturday night, appearing to very decided advantage in "Rosalind" in Shakespeare's grand comedy "As you like it." At the close of the play she was called before the curtain for a speech, which she made in a pretty manner, although she remarked that it is a very rare thing for a woman to be called before the footlights in England for a speech. This doubtless was intended as a gentle rebuke, but Pittsburgh boys want speeches thrown in on all occasions, and do not care much who make them so that they are made.

To night Mr. J. N. Gotthold, the leading man of the stock company of the Opera House, will make his first appearance as a beneficiary before a Pittsburgh audience. He is one of the finest actors out of the starring list on the American boards, and it is no flattery to say that even the best histrionic find in him a worthy rival for popular applause when he is cast in a conspicuous role. He is a close and diligent student, a painstaking and careful interpreter, and one who never forgets the dignity of his profession. Since his connection with the Opera House he has made rapid inroads into the popular heart, and has won troops of friends and admirers. He presents a strong bill to-night, and will be ably supported throughout. Being eminently worthy a hearty and substantial recognition from our amusement lovers we hope Mr. Gotthold will be greeted to-night with such an audience as true merit and honest endeavors warrant.

To-morrow night Edwin Booth will appear supported principally by the charming favorite Mrs. Ettie Henderson. The following is the programme for the Booth season: Tuesday evening Iago; Wednesday Shylock; Thursday Richard III; Friday Richelieu; Saturday matinee Iago; Saturday night Richard III. The box sheets are now open for all the week.

The Academy.—Manager Brenner closes the Academy to-night in order to prepare the hall for the coming of the great German actress, Marie Seebach, the rival of Ristori and Janauschek, who will appear on Friday evening in the noble realization of Mary Queen of Scots. On Saturday evening she appears in Faust, as Gretchen. She will be supported by a full company of German artists. She has everywhere produced a marked sensation in this country, while all Europe rings with her praise. Our Germans will especially enjoy the entertainments, but as most people are familiar with "Faust" and "Mary Stuart," the failure to comprehend the words will not materially lessen the enjoyment of the acting.

Varieties.—[illegible] Masonic Hall.—Madam Rentz's original Female Minstrel Troupe commenced a brief engagement at Masonic Hall on Saturday night. [illegible]

Bushnell's Museum.—[illegible] The Museum is worth a visit.

Fairs.—By glancing at our amusement advertisements it will be observed that a number of church fairs and festivals will be held this week.

BRUTAL ASSAULT.

A Wife Brutally Beaten by Her Husband.

One of the most brutal and fiendish assaults that has occurred in this city recently was perpetrated Friday evening last by John Kohrsin, the proprietor of a saloon on Liberty street, near the Union Depot. On Monday, it appears that Kohrsin beat and abused his wife to such an extent that she made information before Alderman Keeper charging him with assault and battery. He was arrested and after a hearing was committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at court. Friday he procured the required bail and was released, and repairing to his residence he went into the room where his wife was sitting, still suffering from the injuries he had inflicted upon her, he seized a chair and struck her on the head, cutting a severe gash over her right eye, and fracturing the skull. Dr. Dickson was summoned and dressed her wounds and Alderman McMasters being sent for, took the injured woman's information charging her husband with felonious assault and battery. Kohrsin was arrested and committed to await the result of the woman's injuries. The woman was still living at twelve o'clock last night and there is hopes of her recovery.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE.

Allegheny Teachers in Council—An Association Organized.

Saturday afternoon a number of the teachers of the Allegheny schools assembled in House No. 4, Sandusky street, for the purpose of organizing a Teachers Institute.

A short time was spent in discussing the object and benefits to be derived from a combination of the teachers for mutual improvement, and a comparison of the experiences in teaching, after which the enterprise was fairly incorporated by the election of the following officers: President, E. M. Still; Vice Presidents, J. M. Caldwell, Miss Eliza McHendry; Secretary, Miss Jeannetta H. Leckey; Assistant Secretary, Miss Mary C. Hays; Treasurer, H. W. Gross; Executive Committee, Mr. S. P. Van Pelt, Miss M. E. Morton, Miss Ella M. May.

It was then decided to meet on the last Friday evening of each month during school term. The time and place of the next regular meeting will be announced by the Executive Committee.

In the Weekly Medical Report of Drs. L. & T. L. Oldshue, No. 132 Grant street, Pittsburgh, the number of diseases treated by them during the week ending November 12, 1870, we learn was 164.

The Drs. Oldshue are daily in receipt of letters of commendations and expressions of gratitude from their patients. One says:

NOVEMBER 4, 1870.

Drs. L. & T. L. Oldshue.

Sirs:—You are correct in your examination of the urine I sent to you. The patient is laboring under nervous debility, derangements of the Liver, Lungs, Heart, Dizziness, Singing in the Ears, and Stomach at times very much out of order. Send the package of medicine as soon as possible.

Another says: NOVEMBER 9, 1870.

Drs. L. & T. L. Oldshue.

I am much better. My back is entirely well. Send me another package of medicine by Express.

One from Illinois writes: OCTOBER 31, 1870.

Drs. L. & T. L. Oldshue.

My daughter, Mrs. ——, has been taking your medicine and her health is so much improved that I feel encouraged to send to you for myself. Send me medicine immediately.

And so on.

The Mint Restaurant, at No. 44 Smithfield street, is one of the very best in the city and is conducted in first class style and in an admirable and orderly manner. Meals are served at all hours in the cleanest and most tempting styles, while for oysters, fried, raw or stewed the "Mint" has acquired enviable reputation, and is patronized largely by epicurean lovers of the delicious bivalve well served. The bar is kept supplied with the very finest of imported and domestic ales and liquors, and is presided over by the genial and gentlemanly Mr. John C. Roney, who was so long the principal mainstay of the old "Revere House" on Fifth avenue, and whose capacities for the position are only equalled by his personal popularity and large and general acquaintance. His many friends will be glad to learn of his making headquarters at so good a restaurant as the "Mint" and he has an old fashioned welcome for all who may call.

THE BABY.

What a Man has to Say About It.

[From London Society.]

But as for the baby, whatever rudimentary arts he may develop, he does not show the slightest possible glimpse of the development of a moral sense. His notions of sleep are simply inordinate. His times for awakening are the small hours, when all conscientious babies are asleep. He then displays a capacity for yelling, which otherwise could hardly be expected from so minute an insect. At other times he reclines, sticking his thumb in dim yearning after a pipe, or doubling his fist in lively anticipation of life's coming struggles. A baby is generally born looking extremely old. One almost begins to speculate whether the Platonic theory of reminiscence may not be true, and whether this alleged baby may not be some extremely old gentleman who has acted rather badly in another sphere of existence, and has another mundane chance given him. Babies look awfully old and wrinkled when they are born. Sometimes they look ninety, but I have seen them look as young as eight-and-forty. In a few days they throw off the old existence, and are fairly embarked upon this real sea of human life, where they will have rocks and shoals and quicksands enough before they can come into any sort of haven. And yet there is something maddening about a baby. Boswell is reported to have once said to Dr. John son: "Sir, what would you do if you were shut up in a tower with a baby?" I forget what the response was. "Sir, you are a fool," I suppose or something equally laconic and straightforward. The suggestion is an awful one, probably an impossible one; but still the dread idea recurs: "What would a man do if he were shut up alone with a baby?"

CUTTING AFFRAY.

Beer Saloon Row—Two Men Injured—Arrest of the Alleged Assailants.

On Saturday night about eleven o'clock a row occurred among a party of roughs who called at Eberhart's beer saloon on Troy Hill, Allegheny. Clubs, chairs and knives were freely used and several of the party were pretty well used up. Wm. Peppener, was cut four times—twice on the head and twice on other parts of the body. The wounds, however, were not very serious. Another man, Barney Tasman, fared a little worse. He was stabbed in the left side, and severely wounded. The cut would have been a fatal one but for the fact that the force of the blow was somewhat parried by a pass book in the victim's side pocket through which the knife blade had to pass. He was, however, so badly injured as to be unable to leave his bed since.

Yesterday Peppener made information before Mayor Callow against Wm. Gleasy and Wm. Morton for felonious assault and battery. Both were arrested. Gleasy was committed in default of bail for a hearing and Morton by giving $500 security was released.
